ENTRY INTO WAR FOUND PRESIDENT AND CABINET FIRM FOR FULL VICTORY

Scorned Talk of Peace on Condition German Halt U-Boats; Allied Missions Arrive in Washington

RUSSIAN AID WAS FIRST NEED

This is the third article in the series selected from "The Letters of Franklin K. Lane." Another will be printed tomorrow.
(Copyright, 1922, by Anne W. Lane.)

WASHINGTON, April 15, 1917.

The situation is not as happy in Russia as it should be. The people are so infatuated with their own internal reforms that there is danger of their making a separate peace, which would throw the entire strength of Germany on the west front, and compel us to go in with millions of men where we had thought that a few would suffice.

My work on the national council of defense lately has been dealing with many things, chiefly mobilization of our railroads and the securing of new shipping. At my suggestion to Mr. Willard he called together the leading forty-five railroad presidents of the United States, and I addressed them upon the necessity of tying together all of the railroads within one unit and making a single operating system of the 250,000 miles. They met the proposition splendidly and appointed a committee to effect this. It will require some sacrifice on the part of the railroads, and considerable on the part of the shippers; for free time on cars will have to be cut down, some passenger trains taken off, and equipment allowed to flow freely from one system to the other under a single direction, no matter who owns the locomotives or the cars. I put it up to them as a test of the efficiency of private ownership.

On the shipping side we are not only going about the task of building a thousand wooden ships, under the direction of Denman and Goethals, but we are going to take our coastwise shipping off, making the railroads carry this freight, and put all available ships into the trans-Atlantic business. We want, also, to get some steel ships built. The great trouble with this is the shortage of plates and the shortage of shipyards. In order to effect this, I expect we will have postpone the building of some of our large dreadnoughts and battle cruisers, which could not be in service for three years, anyhow. Whether we will succeed in getting the secretary of the navy to agree to this is a question, but I am going to try.

Balfour Commission On Way

We, of course, are going to press into service at once the German and Austrian ships, such of them as can be repaired and will be of use in the freight business, but we will not confiscate them. We will deal with them exactly as we will deal with American ships, paying at the end of the war whatever their services were worth. This spirit of fairness is to animate us throughout the war. Of course enemy warships were seized as prizes of war, but there are very few of these, and of no considerable value. I do not believe they can be of any use.

England is sending over Mr. Balfour with a very high commission. These gentlemen will arrive here this week, and I expect with them Viviani and Joffre, from France. We will have intimate talks with them and gain the benefit of their experience. I expect Mr. Balfour to make some speeches that will put England in a more favorable light, and the presence of Joffre will stimulate recruiting in our army and navy. He is the one real figure who has come out of the war so far.

We are raising seven billions; three billions to go to the allies, largely for purchases to be made here. Money contributions pass unanimously, but there is to be trouble over our war measures respecting conscription and the raising of an adequate army. Some pacifists and other pro-Germans are cultivating the idea that none but volunteers should be sent to Europe. Some are also saying Germany can have peace with us if she stops her submarine warfare. I doubt if that line of agitation will be successful before Congress. Certainly it will not be successful with the President or the cabinet. We are now very happily united upon following every course that will lead to the quickest and most complete victory.

The greatest impending danger is the drive on the east front. It is possible that the drive of Germany and the weakness on the part of the Russians because of so large a socialistic element now in control of Russian affairs. We offered Russia a commission of railroad men to look over their railroad systems and advise with them as to the best means of operating them. At first Russia inclined to welcome such a commission, but later the offer was declined because of local feeling. We intend to send a commission ourselves to Russia, possibly headed by McAdoo or Root, and on this commission we will have a railroad man with expert knowledge who can be of some service to them, I hope. The Russian and the French governments have ordered hundreds of locomotives and tens of thousands of cars in this country, a large part of which are ready for shipment, but which cannot be shipped because of lack of shipping facilities.

Envoys at Tomb of Washington

Washington, May 3, 1917.

These are great days. Their significance will not be realized for many years. We are forming a close union with France and England. The most impressive sight I have ever seen was that at Washington's tomb last Sunday. We went down on the Mayflower—the French and the English commissions and the members of the cabinet. Viviani and Balfour spoke. Joffre laid a bronze palm upon Washington's tomb, then stood up in his soldierly way and stood at salute for a minute. Balfour laid a wreath of lilies upon the tomb, and leaned over as if in prayer. Above the tomb, for the first time, flew the flag of another country than our own, the stars and stripes, and on either side, the British jack and the French tricolor. This is a combination of the democracies of the world against feudalism and autocracy.

I heard a story from one of Joffre's aides. Joffre, by the Allies Blocked By Turks, Russ, Adjourn Parley

Deadlock Over Straits Stir Fear of Peace Failure; Ultimata Forecast.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—Following the action of the Kemalists in confiscating the passports of 100 Armenians as they were about to board ship, British troops today took possession of the customs house, and armed with machine guns, protected the embarkations of the refugees.

By HENRY WOOD, (United Press Staff Correspondent)

LAUSANNE, Dec. 5.—Out-maneuvering of Europe's statesmen by the joint diplomacy of the Turks and Russians at Lausanne has nearly checkmated the allies.

The Near-Eastern conference was adjourned until Wednesday, while Marquis Curzon, M. Barrere and Marquis Di Gironi cabled their governments for further instructions. The allies were unable to draw the Turks into a declaration of policy which they could oppose, and the only course now open to them is again to resort to ultimatums.

The allied delegations do not conceal their anger with Tchitcherin, who is considered the probable author of the present situation.

The scheme of Roumania to demilitarize the Danubian and the Black Sea is supported by the allies, but the Turks and Russians are endeavoring to cause embarrassment by making the allies come out into the open.

SEVEN THREE SOLUTIONS TO ISSUE.

There are three solutions of the problem, centering around the Turkish straits, said Tchitcherin. "I outline them as follows: First, Russian domination, which we do not want. Second, control of the straits by an international commission, which would leave them at the mercy of the strongest naval power. Third, restoration of the waterways to Turkey, the rightful owner, with the privilege of fortifying them and closing them to all warships except Turkish."

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Kemalist police today confiscated the passports of 700 Armenians as they were about to board ships for Greece, Italy and France, and refused to permit them to embark. The Turkish authorities declared that they were Ottoman subjects. It is reported that in many instances the Kemalists police exacted payments of from $50 to $100 from individual Armenians before permitting them even to approach the ships.

ROYAL SEE PLEADS TO PROTECT CHRISTIANS.

LAUSANNE, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—Representations were made to the Near East conference today by the Holy See on the behalf of the Constantinople Christians. Monsignor Maglione, the nunzio of the Catholic church in Switzerland, presented a communication to the president of the conference asking that prompt and efficacious methods be adopted to protect the various Christian populations.

One Man Killed in Rum Runner Fight

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. SEATTLE, Dec. 5.—H. W. Thompson, 30, died today as the result of a bullet wound when a whisky smuggling boat, of which he was one of the crew, engaged in a running gun fight last night with the coast guard cutter Arcata near Point No Point.

The battle took place after the Arcata had pursued the smugglers' craft about the lower sound since early afternoon, according to Captain L. A. Lonsdale of the Arcata. R. J. Thompson, 23, brother of the dead man, and Oscar Taylor, 23, engineer, were arrested after the surrender of the craft and are held for the United States commissioner.

Bavaria Balks at Demand of Allies

BERLIN, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Munich correspondent of the Lokai Anzeiger says it is certain that as far as Bavaria is concerned, the demands of the allies in their ultimatum of November 30 for apology and indemnity for attacks on officers of the inter-allied commission of control will not be fulfilled to the extent stipulated.

Liner President Taft Disabled

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. The United States shipping board liner President Taft of the Pacific Mail line which sailed from here Saturday night for the Orient, was due to arrive back here today, having been forced to turn about and limp into port by engine trouble. Arrangements have been made to rush the ship and the passengers to sail again for the Orient Friday.

IRISH FREE STATE HAS ROYAL O. K.

King George Gives Sanction to Legislation Setting Up New Dominion of Empire; Healy Is Governor-General

Insurgents Resume Guerilla Warfare on Eve of Erin Regime and Are Defeated With Heavy Casualties

LONDON, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—King George this evening gave royal sanction to the legislation setting up the Irish Free State as a dominion of the British empire.

Official announcement was made this afternoon of the appointment of Timothy Healy as first governor-general of the Irish Free State.

DUBLIN, Dec. 5.—(By the United Press.)—Irish insurgents resumed the guerilla warfare today on the eve of the actual establishment of the Free State.

Sixty rebels, who ambushed Free Staters west of Cork, were driven off with machine gun fire. They were closely pursued and heavy casualties inflicted as they fled into the mountains.

Following passage of the bills establishing the Free State by the British houses of lords, reports of an irregular coup planned here tonight flew about Dublin. The insurgent Republicans, these reports said, are prepared for a last desperate effort to prevent the new government from functioning.

IRISH FREE STATE COMES INTO BEING AT MIDNIGHT.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—Without pomp or ceremony the Irish free state will come into being after midnight tonight.

By a special order in council the full administration of the country already has been handed over to the provisional government. Therefore, when the constitution comes into existence tomorrow, there will be no ceremony of any kind to mark the fulfillment of the treaty made between the British and Irish governments.

The Daily Mail's Dublin correspondent says that the appointees of the Provisional Government, which included the well-known writers, William Butler Yeats and George Russell; also the Earl of Dunraven, the Earl of Wicklow, Lord Glenavy—better known as Sir James Campbell, the former Irish Lord Chancellor—and possibly Lord Decies, the husband of Vivian Lord.

The business that brought President Cosgrave to London suddenly yesterday is unknown, but it was apparently urgent. His hands are not only full of national business, but his wife is gravely ill.

HEALY READY TO TAKE UP OFFICE.

Timothy Healy, who yesterday confirmed in an acceptance of the acceptance of the Governor-Generalship of the Irish Free State, returned to Dublin on the night boat after consultations at the Colonial office, which are understood to have been satisfactory to both parties. It is considered noteworthy that Healy is the first untitled person to be chosen as the king's representative in any British dominion. It is also understood that, unlike those of all other viceroys, the prospective governor-general's aides will be officers of the Irish army instead of officers holding commissions from the king.

Arrangements for the evacuation of all British troops from the Free State territory are going forward, and it is understood that the last of the military will have left by December 15.

Although the appointment of the new governor-general of Ulster has not been announced, the report that the Duke of Abercorn would be the choice seems likely to prove accurate.

FIRST PRESIDENT AND GOVERNOR-GENERAL MEET.

HOLYHEAD, Wales, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—An historic meeting occurred last evening between the first president of the Irish Free State and its first governor-general.

William Cosgrave, president of the Dail Eireann, accompanied by Richard Mulcahy, minister of defense in the provisional cabinet, met Timothy Healy on his return from London, where he had been in connection with his appointment to the governor-generalship. Cosgrave warmly congratulated Mr. Healy and all returned to Dublin together today.

Cosgrave declared that the situation in Ireland was well in hand and that he had high hopes that the troubles of the Irish people in the north and south could not long be delayed.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—The local police today seized large quantities of rifles, ammunition, and explosives discovered on ships sailing for Southern Ireland.

CLEMENCEAU MAKES PLEA TO HARDING

Ex-Premier of France Calls On President; Tries to Convince Him America Should Use Influence in Europe

Visit to Woodrow Wilson to Be Event on Wednesday's Program; Noted Visitor Goes to Lincoln Statue

By A. L. BRADFORD, (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Georges Clemenceau today placed the cause of France directly before President Harding.

In a forty-five minute conference at the White House, the Tiger sought to convince the executive that America should again wield her mighty influence in Old World affairs to save the continent from disaster.

Pleading for the United States to "come back" to Europe, the veteran statesman summed up for Harding the outstanding thoughts of the four main addresses which he has made in carrying his cause direct to the American people.

Harding met the Tiger in the oval room of the White House, which serves as the executive's office.

TIGER PLUNGES INTO HIS MISSION.

After an exchange of friendly greetings, Clemenceau is said to have plunged directly into the story nearest his heart—the plight of his beloved France.

The president is understood to have informed him in general terms of America's desire to be helpful in bringing peace and economic stability throughout the world.

Whether the two great world figures went into such details as the tri-partite alliance of Great Britain, the United States and France for the defense of the latter country was not revealed.

FRENCH STATESMAN PLEADED WITH CONFERENCE.

Clemenceau came from the conference with a smile, which seemed to say that he was well pleased with his talk with Harding.

Just after the White House conference, it was announced that the Tiger's plans for his call on his collaborator at Versailles—Woodrow Wilson—had been postponed until 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. This meeting is understood to have been arranged over the telephone by Wilson and Clemenceau.

Following the White House visit the Tiger drove to the beautiful white memorial of Abraham Lincoln in Potomac Park and again paid homage to the great American. He stood with bowed head before the big white marble statue.

INTRODUCED BY JUSSEURAND.

Clemenceau was introduced to Harding by Jules Jusserand, French ambassador. When he appeared at the executive office, his famous slouch hat, which almost covers his eyes, was missing, and in its place was a high silk one of the diplomatic style.

He apparently didn't feel at home in the new hat. He shuffled out of the President's office and left it on Mr. Harding's desk. He didn't miss it until he was in his motor car.

Clemenceau will have the opportunity to present his case to two of the leading cabinet officers at lunch today. Seated on his right and left will be Secretary of State Hughes and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. The luncheon will be at the home of Henry White, Clemenceau's Washington residence.

MEETING WITH WILSON WILL BE HISTORIC.

Two of the "big four" of Versailles come face to face after three and a half years, when Georges Clemenceau calls upon Woodrow Wilson tomorrow. Since the map of Europe, each has been repudiated by the electors of his nation, yet each is held in high esteem by millions of his countrymen, and the visit of the Tiger of France to Wilson's S street home is considered the most significant of his trip to America.

Reputed personal enemies, since Clemenceau's plans wrecked those of Wilson and the latter's senate in turn, upset all the Tiger's hopes, the two find themselves outstanding champions of a common cause—America's return to Europe.

For his thrice reinforced appeal direct to the American public, through speeches at New York, Boston, Chicago and St. Louis, the Tiger is satisfied he has won.

"I am going back to France, in a very few days now," to tell my countrymen that we need have no fear—America is still with us," he said.

Clemenceau is guest in Washington of Henry Allen White, another delegate to the peace conference. He will make no formal speech until Friday, unless his speech is changed. He will speak at Philadelphia, Saturday and go to Chicago to address farmers' conference Monday.

Jail Breaker

HAMMER SLAYER BREAKS FROM L. A. COUNTY JAIL; SPOUSE'S AID SUSPECTED

Clara Phillips Flees When Cell Bars Are Sawed; Husband Reported Seen in Motor With Fugitive PRISONER IN HUMAN FLY ACT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—(United Press.)—That Armour Phillips, the "husband who told," in his desire to make amends to the wife he surrendered to justice, engineered her escape from the county jail today was the growing conviction of officers following the jail break of Clara Phillips today.

Officers who went to the house which Phillips has occupied since his wife went to trial found that he had packed his belongings and left there last night. Strong evidence was found that the cell bars had been cut by an outside confederate and a telephone call to police indicated that Phillips and his wife had been seen together in an auto this morning. Discovery of the fur pieces that Mrs. Phillips wore during her trial and which she took with her in her flight was reported from Long Beach. The fur was found in an abandoned car three blocks from the place where Peggy Caffee, whose story brought about the conviction, has been living.

Detectives Robert Coutts and George Fellows identified the fur as that of Mrs. Phillips. The prints of bare feet were found in the car, as on the roof of the jail.

Deputies were of the opinion that Mrs. Phillips either fled to Long Beach with the hope of revenging herself upon Peggy Caffee or with the idea of making her escape by boat.

LOS ANGELES, P. 5.—Cutting her way through two steel bars and scaling to the roof of the county jail building, Clara Phillips, the "tiger woman" and former "pony" in a Broadway chorus girl revue, convicted slayer of Alberta Meadows, escaped from the county jail today.

After sawing a hole two feet square through the heavy steel bars on the window of her cell, Mrs. Phillips, after the fashion of a "human fly," climbed over a parapet to the roof of the jail building and slid down a drainpipe to the roof of an adjoining building. Thence she descended several flights of stairs to Temple street.

Officers believe at least one person assisted Mrs. Phillips in her dash for freedom and her husband, Armour L. Phillips, is suspected.

1 Killed, 35 Ill From Wood Alcohol Poison

(By United Press) BOSTON, Dec. 5.—Fifteen men are unconscious at city hospital and one has died since last night as the result of wood alcohol poisoning. Twenty more are being treated by doctors.

Police fear a recurrence of the epidemic of "blind death" which took a toll of more than twenty-five lives in the Christmas season two years ago.

MAN RUNS AMUCK; BLOWS HEAD OFF

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—A dozen diners in a Fillmore street restaurant were terrorized, a young woman was struck and the police were threatened when W. B. Symonds, also known as W. H. Bryant, a salesman, formerly of Los Angeles, ran amuck with a gun at noon today, subsequently committing suicide.

Simmonds had been acquainted with Mrs. May Billinger in Los Angeles. Her husband had endeavored to keep him away from the house and finally the Billingers moved here, the wife obtaining employment at the cafe at 1240 Fillmore street.

Simmonds chanced into the place and ever since has been appearing daily.

Last night he promised the woman that he would leave town, but today he appeared again, paraded the place, and then struck Mrs. Billinger in the face when she tried to get away from him. She ran to a closet and he unwrapped a shotgun, carried in a cloth. The other customers fled and Simmonds invaded the kitchen, ordering out the cook, Andrew Snyder.

Sergeant Frank Morman and Patrolman Coleman were called in. Simmonds threatened them with death if they approached the kitchen. They were planning to take him by strategy when he turned the gun on himself and blew off the top of his head.

Will Not Tolerate Mandate Over Weak

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(By International News Service.)—The foreign policy of the present administration "will never tolerate" the United States assuming a mandate over smaller nations, it was officially stated at the White House this afternoon.

This information was given the United Press today by one of the former President's closest friends, who has been a constant observer of his steadily improving condition.

Wilson will never recover the robust health he enjoyed during his presidential administration, as his long illness has greatly taxed his strength at an age when vitality cannot be regained easily.

But it is believed the effect of the paralysis soon may disappear and he may again enjoy free use of his arms, legs and muscles.

For the first time since he was stricken in the White House three years ago, Wilson is able to walk more than a few steps without assistance. Rear Admiral Grayson, his personal physician, said today: "Mr. Wilson continues to show steady and most encouraging improvement." Grayson said: "He undoubtedly is in much better health now than at any time since his long illness began, and there is every reason to believe that this improvement will continue."

her cell window to the top of the jail building was declared to have been an acrobatic feat in itself and a test of human strength. Had her grip on the side of the building once slipped she would have fallen four stories to a concrete court below and certain death.

Since her conviction three weeks ago, Mrs. Phillips has displayed "hard-boiled" tendencies. It was learned at the jail, and not the demeanor appearance she displayed in court during her trial.

Mrs. Phillips had been granted a stay of execution while her attorney, Bert Herrington, was preparing papers to appeal the case.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5 (United Press).—Matron L. D. Fisher of the county jail discovered the escape of Clara Phillips, convicted hammer slayer, shortly after 7 a. m. today.

I called the girls on the fourth floor at 8:30 and went down and called the girls in the dormitories below," she said. "Breakfast was served at 6:45, but when Clara did not come down I thought nothing of it, because she usually had breakfast in her cell."

"While the girls were doing the dishes I went up and called to the occupants of the two cells, saying, 'Alma Smith will clean the upstairs part today and Clara Phillips will do the hall.'"

"Then I came down stairs again and the girls began their morning work. Clara didn't come down to do the hall, so I went up to see if she were ill. I looked into her cell and saw she was not out, but thought she must be some where around the women's quarters."

"But when I questioned the girls, none of them had seen her. So I began a search."

"Alma and I stepped into Clara's cell and drew the curtains. We saw the hole where the bars had been sawed."

"Oh lordy," Alma said, "she's gone right out through that hole."

Bandits Capture Part of Tsingtao, Demand Ransom

Shantung City Looted By Outlaws; $100,000 Is Requested.

TIENTSIN, China, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press).—Reports received here say that Chinese bandits have taken control of Tsingtao, Shantung; the Kiaochow port, whose stormy career in war and diplomacy was to culminate today in its return to China after twenty-four years of alien rule, the first sixteen under Germany and the last eight under Japan. The population is reported fleeing from the city. Trains from Tsingtao are said to be crowded with refugees.

Chinese police sent from Peking to take over the city are reported to have been driven out of their barracks.

The bandits, according to the telegrams, demand $100,000 ransom for the delivery of government officials and police in their hands.

The outlaws also hold out for the appointment of their chief as governor of the port.

Shops and residences are being looted nightly, the dispatches say. The 20,000 Japanese who remain in Tsingtao, unorganized for defending the city, apparently are impotent in face of the menace.

This was the day set for the actual delivery of the Kiaochow territory from Japan to China under the terms of the Washington armistice conference agreement. The region was seized by Germany in 1914, as indemnity for losses in the Boxer uprising. At the outbreak of the world war Japan captured it and was awarded it at the peace of Versailles, but in conversations with China at the Washington conference agreed to turn it back this winter.

MARY MINTER TO WED, RUMOR SAYS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 5.—Hollywood's film circles were a-flutter today over the reported engagement of Mary Miles Minter to Louis Sherwin, scenario writer and dramatic critic.

The report of their engagement is said to be founded on the fact that they have been seen together much of late, coupled with the fact that Miss Minter recently sold her exclusive residence here to Charles L. Eastin of Chicago. Sherwin is said to be considering one of the best known dramatic critics in the country and recently came to Los Angeles to be associated with local studios.

Neither Miss Minter nor Sherwin could be reached to confirm or deny their reported engagement.

One of the rumors is that the engagement will not affect the old structure, but it is held by property owners in that section that it does affect the building of an addition to the structure.

HOOVER DENIES HAVING INTEREST IN WILMOT CASE

Telegram From Cabinet Member Red in Trial of Dry Raider Bribe Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—The taking of evidence in the trial of Roy Wilmot was completed at noon today and the case would have been submitted to the jury without argument by counsel had not two of the jurors requested that the usual addresses by counsel be made. Therefore, this afternoon the attorneys on both sides proceeded with their arguments. Also this afternoon there was begun a grand jury inquiry into alleged perjury on the part of a number of witnesses testifying in behalf of Wilmot. Among those expected to testify are Prof. James Hyde of Stanford University, Captains of Police Goff and Layne and, possibly, Pete McDonough.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover was an important figure in the trial of Roy Wilmot, prohibition officer, accused of bribe-taking in the session in the Federal court today. Hoover was not present, but a telegram from him directed to U. S. Judge William C. Van Fleet was handed to the attorneys at the beginning of the proceedings. The message disclaimed all interest on the part of the secretary in Wilmot's defense. It was intimated yesterday by a witness that Hoover had been lined up in behalf of the accused. The message received by the court was as follows: "William C. Van Fleet, U. S. District Court, San Francisco."

"My attention has been called to the statement in today's evening news to the effect that I had some interest in the trial of a Mr. Wilmot now in your court. It is scarcely necessary for me to say that I know nothing about the matter and have no interest in it one way or the other. "HERBERT HOOVER."

Yesterday Fred Wolford of Fresno testified that Wilmot had told him that Hoover had induced Judge Van Fleet to sit in his case, as Judge M. T. Dooling, in whose division, it is proceeding, was "on the other side."

Prof. James M. Hyde of Stanford University is expected here this afternoon in connection with the case. He has been interested in seeing justice done, and it is presumed likely that Wilmot's assumption of Hoover's interest may have been the result of knowledge that the secretary and the professor are close friends.

An assistant district attorney, testifying to the circumstances of a raid on the Alcazar Pharmacy, was the first witness of the morning.

way, is the quietest, sweetest, most naive and babylike individual I ever met. All of the women, as well as the men, are in love with him. This simple, grave, kindly soldier sat in his room while the Germans came marching upon Paris, saying nothing. Every few minutes an aide would come in and move the French markers back upon the map, and the German markers forward, toward Paris. Day after day he saw this advance, but said nothing. At last when they came to the valley of the Marne, an aide came in and marked the map, showing that the Germans were within thirty miles of Paris. Then Joffre quietly said: "This thing has gone far enough," and taking up a pad of paper he called to his troops to stand fast and die upon the Marne, if necessary, to save France. There is nothing finer than this in history.

Joffre has a skin like a baby. He has the utmost frankness and simplicity of speech. When McAdoo asked him at the White House if the present drive was satisfactory, he said in the most innocent way: "I am not there." Viviani, who is the head of the French commission, is as jealous as a prima donna, terribly jealous of Joffre (which makes Joffre feel most uncomfortable) because, of course, Joffre is the hero of the Marne.

Thought Balfour a Mystic

I spoke at the Belasco Theatre the other day for the benefit of the French war relief fund, introducing Ambassador Herrick and the lecturer, a young Frenchman. Joffre and Viviani were in a box. Every mention of the name of Joffre brought the people to their feet. Yesterday I spoke again at a meeting of the state councils of defense and I enclose you what the New York Post had to say.

Last night I dined with Balfour. I have seen quite a little of him. He is 69 years old and stands about 6 feet 2. He is a perfect type of the aristocratic Englishman, with a charming smile. His real heart is in the study of philosophy. Anne sat next to him at dinner and he told her that he believed in a personal God, personal identity after death, and answer to prayer, which is a remarkable statement of faith for one who has lived through our scientific age. I think at bottom he is a mystic.

On all sides they are frank in telling of their distress. We did not come in a minute too soon. England and France, I believe, were gone if we had not come in. It delights me to see how much sympathy there is with England as well as with France. The Irish alone seem to be unreconciled with England as our ally.

The country's crops are going to be short, I fear, and we have had little rain. Ships and grain—these are the two things that we must get. Ships, to carry our grain and our locomotives and rails, and grain to keep the fighters alive. The U-boats are destroying twice as much as the producing tonnage of the world.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—Wearing a ball and chain and barefooted, William Kuenen, 22, en route to Pomerene, Wash., where he broke jail some time ago while he was serving a sentence for grand larceny, leaped from a moving train at Willows today and made his escape from a deputy sheriff who was taking him back, according to telephone advice to the police.

Jail 'Not So Bad,' Says De Palma

MADERA, Dec. 5.—Ralph De Palma, veteran automobile racing driver, after spending his first night in the county jail here, said "jail life was not so bad" today. De

Senate Kills Probe On Tariff Charges

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—An echo of the recent tariff fight was heard in the Senate today when it killed the resolution of Senator Gooding, Republican, Idaho, proposing investigation of alleged financial interests of senators in the tariff legislation. Senator Gooding had been charged with personal interest in the wool schedule, and had demanded an inquiry to establish whether senators should be barred from activity because of any personal interest they might have in bills before Congress.

Hungarian Leader Fried as Traitor

BUDAPEST, Dec. 5 (By the Associated Press).—The trial of Count Michael Karolyi, former president of the Hungarian National Council, who is charged with high treason in delivering Hungary to bolshevism, has been begun. The public prosecutor demanded the confiscation of all the accused's property. The defense pleaded that the Karolyi family is reduced to poverty. Count Michael's wife earns her livelihood by ferrying passengers from Ragusa to the island Laccrona in a motor boat.

Edgerton Shore to Quit Control Board

BY UNITED PRESS
LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
SACRAMENTO, Dec. 5.—Edgerton Shore, member of the State board of control, today issued a statement to the effect that he will resign from that board in the next month. He says he expects to devote his time to developing his property in Los Angeles.

Palma is serving a ten-day sentence imposed by Justice R. G. Cornell of Chowchilla for running seventy miles an hour on the highway. He was given two days to enable him to complete his racing season, and then reported to begin his term.

Chilean Legislators Put Ban on Loans

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press).—The majority group in the Chilean congress at a private meeting today, passed a resolution asserting that it would not authorize the contraction of further loans by the government or new issues of paper money. The senators also favored the adoption of new legislation giving the government new sources of income.

John Wanamaker Shows Improvement

BY UNITED PRESS
LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—Improvement was reported today by physicians in the condition of John Wanamaker, 84-year-old merchant, who has been ill at his home here with a severe cold.

Confession Tells of Auto Man's Murder

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—A band of ex-convicts murdered Joe Latus, wealthy automobile dealer, who was found shot to death in his garage, according to an alleged confession obtained by police today. Four men and a woman were held for investigation in the case. The alleged statement was made by Morris Borgoslawski and named Larry Hefferman as the man who fired the shots which killed the automobile man.

Wife of Ambassador Harvey Recovering

LONDON, Dec. 5 (By the Associated Press).—Mrs. George Harvey, wife of the American ambassador, who has been suffering from a bronchial attack, was better today and her condition was believed not to be serious.

Russ Refugees in Desperate Plight

GENSAN, Korea, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press).—Clothing is badly needed for the Russian refugees from Vladivostok. There are pitiable sights everywhere. Girls are out in the bitter weather without wraps or underclothing, their single garments to their bodies. It has been necessary to remove women and children from the steamers, but accommodations ashore are lacking.

Turk Sultan Seeks Refuge in Mecca

LONDON, Dec. 5.—The Morning Post's Cairo correspondent says that Mohammed VI, the former Turkish sultan, is reported to have accepted the invitation of King Hussein, sovereign of the Hedjaz, to live in Mecca.

COUNCIL IS HELD ON SCHOOL SITES

Committees are meeting daily compiling their opinions of what is needed in the way of sites and buildings under the proposed school bond issue next spring.

Today the superintendent's committee met in the board of education building, and several high school principals met in the board of education rooms at the city hall to discuss what is needed from the educational standpoint.

The amount of funds needed for new schools is not to be ascertained as yet, according to school officials. A recent compilation by the district attorney showed that Oakland can be bonded for $11,000,000 more before the limit is reached, but whether the board committees will attempt to reach this amount is doubted, according to their own statements. Quizzes so far run from $4,000,000 to $7,000,000.

I. O. O. F. to Complete Plans for Tree

SAN LEANDRO, Dec. 5.—Final arrangements for a Christmas tree for the children of members of the local Odd Fellows lodge will be completed at a meeting of the local organization tonight, at I. O. O. F. hall, according to Ed Eber, member of the committee in charge. The affair is an annual event here. It probably will take place two or three nights prior to Christmas eve.

Christmas Seal Sale Launched by Leaders

To launch the 1922 Christmas Seal sale which will provide for the Valley Home Prevention for Children permanent buildings that will afford a year-round camp, 309 prominent citizens assembled at a luncheon at Hotel Oakland sponsored by the Tuberculosis Association of Alameda county today.

The highest bidder was the first Christmas Seal of the official campaign. Max Horvinski, assisted by Ben Woolner and J. J. Rosborough, acted as auctioneers, distributing the five stickers to eager bidders for substantial sums. From today until Christmas eve, corps of volunteer workers will undertake to distribute 2,500,000 seals in the city.

The Rev. J. J. Wilbur was the principal speaker of the program. As president of the American Medical Association and head of Stanford University, he delivered an address on the importance of tuberculosis and the necessity for giving careful attention to the child.

Mrs. Wilbur Jones, a dramatic soprano, who received her musical education at the University of the Sacred Heart, was the soloist of the luncheon hour. She made her appearance in a group of operatic selections. Miss Virginia Morgan appeared in an original Christmas Seal Cantata, making her entrance through a gigantic health sticker. Throughout the repeat the twenty-piece orchestra from the Franklin Theater rendered selections.

NOTED PERSONS PRESENT. Mrs. Wallace M. Alexander, chairman of the 1922 Christmas Seal sale in Alameda county, presided. She was assisted by Miss Annie Florence Brown, president of the Tuberculosis Association.

WILL OPEN BOOTHS. Christmas Seal booths will be opened in all the leading centers of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda tomorrow. Mrs. Dudley Kinell is directing the 200 well-known women who will assist in this part of the public distribution of the sealing stickers. Those who are assisting her are:

Man Hurt as Train Hits Auto, Is Dead

Clarence Charles, 25, of 523 Chestnut street, was fatally injured early today when the automobile in which he was riding was struck by a Southern Pacific electric train at Eleventh and Pearl streets. He was taken to the emergency hospital, where it was found that he was suffering from a fractured skull and internal injuries. He died about an hour later.

In the car with Charles were his cousin, S. Chavez, and another man, who were not injured. The machine was demolished and Clarence Charles was blown beneath the wreckage.

The body was removed to the county morgue. Coroner Grant D. Miller announced that he would investigate the accident. According to the men who were not hurt, they did not see the approaching train.

Since Russia turned communism her railway fuel has been wood instead of coal and oil.

$1000 UP FOR SLAYER SUSPECT

One thousand dollars reward has been offered by the Oakland police department and city council for the capture of "Red River" John Westley, negro wanted in connection with the murder of John P. Accartary on Thanksgiving night.

The city council has offered $250 and the members of the police department have agreed to the other $750. This announcement was made today by Police Inspectors Tom Wood and Tom Gallagher who are investigating the case.

The police have been unable to find any trace of "Red River," but they are still under the impression that he is hiding in West Oakland.

The funeral services for Mr. Accartary were held yesterday afternoon at his home 2146 East Twenty-fourth street.

El Cereso Parlor Dance Clears $200

SAN LEANDRO, Dec. 5.—With approximately $200 cleared as a result of a masquerade ball held here by El Cereso Parlor, No. 297, Native Daughters of San Leandro, members of the order are considering tentative plans for a second affair, to probably be held the first of next year. A series of monthly social events will begin with the new year.

"Little Jeff." Man Called by Death

"Little Jeff." the man of many medals, is dead. For many years he had been a character on the streets of Oakland, with his high silk hat and his coat laden with medals of every description. For nearly two years "Jeff," whose real name was Joshua Ward, has been a patient of the county hospital.

Jeff was 13 years of age. In the early days he was a poor, ragged, shabby, a stage driver and a miner. Later he became a familiar figure on the streets of Oakland when he sold papers here.

In February, 1920, he collapsed on the street and was taken to the county hospital. On January 17, this year, Jeff came to Oakland to celebrate his birthday. At that time he had 49 badges in his collection and said he hoped to get 100 before long.

At that time he procured a 10-day leave from Dr. G. R. Broderick of the hospital.

Little Jeff had no relatives living as far as is known. He was a native of Ohio, where he was born in 1914. His death was due to heart trouble.

Recently Little Jeff figured as a character in a racing story by Gerald Beaumont, noted writer of sport stories. The story was entitled "When Johnny Comes Marching Home."

CHARGES FILED AGAINST EDITOR

The controversy between E. Marshall and C. E. Ware over control of the Voice Publishing Company which prints a paper issued in the interests of the colored race, was augmented today with a new lawsuit.

The complaint is filed in the name of the Voice Publishing Company against E. Marshall, who was ousted as president, editor and general manager, November 20, last, it is alleged. Marshall is charged with using $5000 belonging to the paper for his own use, with printing personal advertising in the paper to the amount of $1500 and with leaving the books of the concern in such shape that three expert accountants who tried to correct the accounts "gave up."

The suit further charges Marshall with conspiring with a man named West, designated as Marshall's "tool and dummy" to mislead and carry away $500.19 belonging to the concern. Marshall also threatens to transfer three lots in Richmond owned by the paper to himself, it is claimed. A permanent injunction is asked to prevent Marshall from keeping control of the concern by "force, threats, duress and conspiracy."

The present suit is a reply to an action instituted by Marshall against Ware in the justice court sometime ago which is due for trial in a few days. In that action Marshall seeks to collect $47.97, which it is alleged Ware owes the publishing company. Charges and counter charges were made in that suit in which both Ware and Marshall are accused of using their efforts on the board of directors to their personal benefit.

BEAUTY SPECIALIST TELLS SECRET

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home-made Recipe to DRYEN GRAY HAIR.

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair: "Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1/4 ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.—Advertisement.

$12,250,000 TO BE PAID IN REAR ON RECLAMATION

Appropriation From Treas- ury Is Greatly Reduced By Repayments, Remains.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—On reclamation projects a total of $12,250,000 would be spent by the government during the coming fiscal year, if recommendations contained in the budget submitted to Congress are accepted.

From repayments, rentals and other collections it is estimated $1,500,000 would be available, thereby reducing the amount necessary for appropriation from the treasury to $10,750,000.

For the continued investigation of the feasibility of irrigation, water storage and related problems on the Colorado river and investigation of water sources of that river $100,000 would be appropriated, the same amount as voted for the present year. Amounts recommended for the fiscal year 1934 for other projects follow:

Salt river, Arizona, $500,000; Yuma,

Arizona-California, $430,000; Orland, $50,000; Grand Valley, Colo., $350,000; Uncompahgre, Colo., $185,000; Boise, Idaho, $1,500,000; King Hill, Idaho, $35,000; Minidoka, Idaho, $65,000; Huntley, Montana, $140,000; Sun river, Montana, $145,000; Lower Yellowstone, Montana-North Dakota, $120,000; North Platte, Nebraska-Wyoming, $1,420,000; Newlands, Nevada, $335,000; Rio Grande, New Mexico-Texas, $900,000; North Dakota, $100,000; Baker, Ore., $500,000; Umatilla, Ore., $900,000; Klamath, Oregon-California, $700,000; Belle Fourche, S. Berkeley Church To Hold Bazaar

BERKELEY, Dec. 5.—The annual bazaar of St. Matthew's church will be held tomorrow and Thursday afternoons and evening at the guild hall, Grove and Russell streets. Tea will be served in the afternoon while an extensive array of useful and fancy gifts, as well as home cooking, a grab bag, a mystery table and other features will mark the occasion.

FIVE GYPSIES KILLED.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Dec. 5.—Five gypsies were killed and four injured last night when a Gularie interurban train crashed into a touring car carrying the gypsies.

Alameda Seal Sale To Begin Tomorrow

ALAMEDA, Dec. 5.—The sale of Alameda Red Cross Christmas seals will begin tomorrow, when booths will be placed in the stores and public buildings and the stores will open the campaign among the residents.

Mrs. Kenneth Smith, one of the committee in charge of the drive in Alameda, will head the five-minute speakers who will appear before local civic and fraternal organizations on behalf of the campaign during the next three weeks.

The Alameda committee which is working for the success of the drive includes Mesdames C. J. Du Four, W. G. Tibbets, John Parker, William Tompkins, Lora J. H. Skinner, J. P. Higgins, Russell B. Field, Kenneth Smith and the Misses May Haworth, Belle Garrette, Lucille Hewitt, with E. K. Taylor, Dr. George Thompson, C. J. Du Four and Edward Albert.

Club Will Hold Christmas Party

ALAMEDA, Dec. 5.—The Wednesday Club will hold a Christmas party tomorrow when the organization meets at the home of Mrs. Charles Tabor in San Antonio avenue. A Christmas tree laden with gifts for each of the fifty club members will be a feature of the day. A program in the spirit of the occasion will include a Christmas cantata from each member. Mrs. Harold Miller will preside.

Army Children Hurt In Autobus Wreck

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—Several army school children were injured, one seriously, when a heavy truck in which they were riding skidded on a stretch of wet asphalt on the Port Scott forest road yesterday. There were 20 children in the machine, which was driven by Private Robert M. Brown, 63rd Artillery Battalion. The car got beyond his control and sped for the brink of a 100-foot cliff. To avoid the 100-foot drop, the driver turned the truck into the bank. The truck turned over and all the children were thrown out. One child, 12-year-old Florence Patrick, suffered a broken shoulder. Others sustained less serious injuries. The children were on their way to downtown schools from Fort Scott.

PRIVATE BABY CAR PARIS.—To protect infants from adults' germs, it is proposed to have railroad compartments reserved for babies in arms and their nurses.

HARVEY PREDICTS EUROPE'S 'DEATH' IN ANOTHER YEAR

Premiers Parley fails, No Use of Others, Envoy to Britain Asserts.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press).—Ambassador Harvey was the guest of the American Circle of the Lyceum club this afternoon. The Marchioness of Aberdeen presided. "Mrs. Harvey did not attend, owing to a severe cold. Responding to a toast, the ambassador said: "Europe is facing the most despairing outlook in history."

If no good or permanent results come from the meeting of the premiers in London, he believed to see how Europe could live another year. The last two years had been worse than the war, and the premiers' meeting would be the most momentous since 1918. Economic conditions in Europe must be settled at this meeting, otherwise there would be no use in holding the Brussels meeting or any other.

"There must be an immediate adjustment of conditions in the minor countries," he added, "or it will affect the United States and England. England and America can withdraw, but cannot endure."

Referring to the address of the Marchioness of Aberdeen who had declared that the Free State act would be of the greatest benefit to England and the world, the ambassador said:

"The greatest thing that has happened to the United States and England in the last two years was the wiping out of the old running sore of Ireland. It has been wiped out completely by England's having made the proposition so generous that it could not fail to be recognized by the United States or any fair-minded people. Whatever events will happen in Ireland, so far as the United States is concerned, England has done the right thing, and there will no longer be any Irish question in America."

"When Knighthood Was in Flower" Lavish Spectacle

By WOOD SOANES.

Bluff King Henry's little sister, Mary, she of the vixenish moods and the fanciful democratic ideas, returned in spirit last night to let her shadow join with that of Charles Brandon that they might relive the romance of five centuries ago on the silver sheet of the Franklin theater in the photoplay, "When Knighthood Was in Flower."

It was a gratifying spectacle to those who believe that love will always find a way, to see a queen sweep aside age-old tradition and arrange her wedding with the commoner of her choice, thus defeating the purposes of a wily ruler and his unscrupulous advisers and henchmen, and the theater was well filled with a representative first night's assemblage.

"When Knighthood Was in Flower" is more tenuous in picture than in play form and even the lavishness of the settings and the masses of extras did not bolster up the action or dilute on the condensed material of the play. It proved to be a pleasing story, told in pleasing fashion, but neither epochal nor unexcelled.

FIRST HALF PADDED. This is due largely to the fact that the first half is padded out with unessential which makes for narrative more than action and result in being more or less tiresome. The second half, however, goes forward with leaps and bounds and while the propelling force is mainly melodramatic it caught the audience and swung it along in the wake of the players.

Particularly fine was the storm scene in which Mary, then wife of the newly dead King Louis of France, fought for her honor to the padokeed castle room with Francis I, just made king by right of inheritance. This battle and the pursuit that followed was spectacular and realistic and accomplished great things for the success of the film.

YOUTH AND LOVELINESS. Here was melodrama, but not the apparent type that predominates in the seventh-hour rescue of Brandon from the hedge-man's act by the faithful Caskoden. This has been done so often on the screen that it was simply a chase of mailed knights replacing cowboys or the ax taking the place of the electric chair.

"When Knighthood Was in Flower" opens with the May Day fete in Windsor Park and Martin Davies, who was starred in the role of Mary, was a picture of youth and loveliness when the regal barge carried her to the landing place and she made her way through the cheering throngs to the king's box to watch the contest of strength on the field of honor and incidentally to get her

Brandon was in the capable hands of Forrest Stanley, not so long ago dramatic stock favorite, and ever at his side was the faithful Caskoden, portrayed by another local player who has risen to the heights — Ernest Glendenning. These two actors gave careful and intelligent portrayals and won the admiration of the first-nighters from the start.

Another splendid portrayal in the picture was that of the comic King Louis which went just to the precipice of buff onery and then was saved by the grace of acting. For polished villainy William Powell's Francis was more polished even than the veteran Pedro de Cordoba's "Duke of Buckingham."

Miss Davies dominated all of the scenes in the play as the turbulent princess is over on the scene and elaborate and faithful in reproduction. In fact, "When Knighthood Was the other pictures on the program which, if anything, are out of tune with the general atmosphere created on entering the house, would be easily disposed of without damage to the entertainment as a whole.

Robbers Ransack Mountain View High

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press).—The Mountain View high school early yesterday morning spent several hours in systematically ransacking the school. They secured but $5 in small change for their pains. Practically every desk in the school was ransacked, as were desks in the office of the principal. Nothing but the cash, which was in a drawer in Principal Hester's desk, was missing. Deputy Sheriffs E. A. Ray, W. A. and George Fene and Marshal Ernest Copp of this city are investigating.

FUNERAL IS SET

FOR AUTO VICTIM

Funeral services for Miss Merle Moffitt, 21, 422 East Sixteenth street, who was killed in an automobile accident in San Francisco Saturday night, will be held from St. Anthony's church, Sixteenth avenue and Fifteenth street, tomorrow at 9:30 a. m.

Miss Moffitt is survived by her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Moffitt, and one sister, Mrs. Vera C. Starr of Oakland.

The young woman was employed as secretary to the president of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, and was a graduate of the Oakland High school.

Miss Moffitt was killed when the automobile in which she was riding with Mansfield Joy, of Larkspur, was struck by a street car at Jordan avenue and Geary street. The girl was thrown through the windshield and death was practically instantaneous.

Only members of the family and very close friends will attend the funeral services, which will be read by Father Keating.

LITTLE MAN IS SPANKED. MARTINS PERRY, Ohio, Dec. 5.—Officer Trueman Frazier arrested James Anats, Italian, on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. En route to jail the little prisoner swatted Frazier, who picked up Anats and spanked him. Anats subsided.

LEGION SLOGAN

Judge L. S. Church Talks At Ex-Servicemen's Luncheon on Americanization.

Oakland Post, No. 5, American Legion, which is conducting national education week in cooperation with the school department, observed today as "American Citizenship Day." The day's slogan is "Americans all by 1927."

The American Legion has dedicated itself to the task of making America truly American. Oakland schools take the lead in Americanization work, 859 now being enrolled in Americanization classes of the city schools. The eight home teachers reached 10,065 in the 378 homes of the foreigners visited and taught the mothers and children the American methods of sanitation, health and hygiene.

Superior Judge Lincoln S. Church was the principal talker at the regular weekly luncheon of Oakland Post, No. 5, American Legion, held at 1546 Broadway yesterday.

Judge Church took as his subject the education of the new citizen.

"In California alone," said the judge, "there are 300,000 white aliens, and statistics show that of these 75,000 are illiterates. There are also 25,000 native-born illiterates in this state."

"In Alameda county 80 to 90 aliens are being naturalized each month. No member of the I. W. W. or any communistic party is admitted to citizenship."

Alex-Les-Bains report 80 per cent of their bookings are for America.

Sacred Heart Girls Will Give vaudeville Show

MISS MAUDE CARR, member of the entertainment committee for the Sacred Heart parish, will be the featured attraction in the vaudeville show at the parish hall, Boussum.

Performance By Traeh Der-cas Club to Take Place Tonight.

The Traeh Der-cas club of Sacred Heart parish will present a vaudeville show at the parish hall, Forty-first and Grove streets, this evening. This is the premier offering of the club. The dramatic committee in charge has prepared an unusual program.

In addition to some of the best known amateur dramatic talent around the bay, the Agnesian club of San Francisco will present skits and selections. Among the players will be some of those of the cast of "The Shogun," a recent success.

"The New Mama" is the title of a one-act farce under the direction of Gerald Brucher. The cast includes: The Misses Marion Selby and Bernice Donahue, and Messrs. Browning, Harrison, Thomas Durkin, Joseph Lynch, Irving Manning and James Donnelly.

Miss Maude Carr of the Auxiliary is assisting the entertainment committee.

WOMAN DOFFS CLOTHES, DEFIES DRY ACT RAIDERS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—Mrs. Mary Gellertich, 20 years old, was wearing only a night gown when prohibition enforcement officers raided her home.

Mrs. Gellertich took off her gown and went to bed, and steadfastly declined the officers' invitation to get up and dress and go to jail on suspicion of violation of the Volstead act.

The officers then posted one of their number outside her bedroom door and announced an endurance contest was on.

The other officers arrested Mrs. Gellertich's brother-in-law, August Gellertich, on "wet" charges and confiscated considerable liquor, they said.

BANKER SHOT, ROBBED.

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 5.—Harry Ades, banker, was shot and wounded and robbed of satchel containing $4512 as he sat with his son and daughter and a girl employee in his automobile before the bank last night.

Two negroes opened fire without warning, escaped into an alley and evaded pursuers.

BIDS FOR VETS' HOSPITAL.

KNOXVILLE, Iowa, Dec. 5.—A call for bids for the construction of the $2,000,000 wounded war veterans' hospital here has been issued by the United States government.

Do You Wear Artificial Teeth?

Extraction of teeth and artificial work are in a class by themselves, as both skill and special study are required to attain the same of perfection. This is my specialty.

Many of our leading dentists will not undertake this combined work as they realize the necessity of knowledge, and conscientious attention to the patient.

Cheap dentistry, like everything else "cheap," is expensive in the long run; bargain seekers have experienced this.

Knowledge and skill should be considered always. Demand the best and pay for it.

I make artificial teeth from $20 up. My own invention, "The Rootless" is beyond compare in plate work.

VARIETY MARKS NEW PROGRAM AT PANTAGES

Athletics, Tricks, Music and Sketch Make Attractive Entertainment.

The Rigoletto Brothers and the Swanson Sisters, leaders at the Pantages theater this week, must have framed their act in the belief that variety is the spice of vaudeville entertainment for they combine in their turn sufficient material for an entire show.

The number opens with a little magic, including the needle and thread trick, performed by the men. Then the young women come on for a tasty singing act, which is followed by some comedy juggling by the two brothers; another singing number, featuring a clever model by the girls, and a finale with the men providing hand music. The act is one of the most pretentious seen at Pantages in some time and scored heavily.

In addition to this act, which occupies the closing position, the program boasts a number of clever entertainers. A colorful dancing act opens the bill with Eva de Vol, a singer of charm and ability, next on the bill. Kennedy and Rooney follow with "Can You Imagine," a combination comedy and music number.

"Who Is She?" proved to be a clever sketch by Willard Mack, featuring Joseph E. Bernard and Jerry Ann. Robbins, who kept laughter at blood heat while they were on the stage.

Tuck and Clark preceded the Rigoletto brothers with an exhibition of agility in acrobatics. One of the men is a contortionist of no mean ability.

The bill is diversified and entertaining from start to finish.—W. S.

POISONED AT WEDDING.—SOFIA.—Two hundred guests at a wedding feast here were made seriously ill by poison in the food by a rival of the bridegroom.

CURTAIN CALLS

By WOOD SOANES

THEY are telling a very pretty story in New York which tends to show that actors are generous and fine and full of the milk of human kindness after all and there is no harm in repeating it here.

Arthur Byron, as all theatergoers know, has been a star for twelve years or more, but now Byron is merely a "featured player" with Fay Bainter in "Lady Crispin." formerly "The Painted Lady," and on this change in billing hangs the tale.

It seems that William Harris Jr., producer of the new show which has just opened in New York, found it difficult to cast the role of General Christopher, the eccentrically lovable proprietor of the odd little traveling circus that figures in the play.

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

Haverly's Minstrels have arrived at the California Theater for a season. George Wilson is featured in the cast of black-face comedies.

A number of well-known actors tried the part, but none seemed to give the characterization just the desired quality. Then Harris had an inspiration. He felt certain that Byron could make the role stand forth as the author intended it, but Byron was starting in "Bluebeard."

Nevertheless, Harris determined to talk the matter over with Byron and to the end arranged that the star should go to New York on a certain Sunday for conferences. To ask an actor to give up a star's role for that of a featured player is in itself a very serious matter, besides which were the problems of the play that was touring profitably, not to speak of the feelings of Miss Bainter herself.

Harris made his proposition to Byron effectively in the following words: "You are the only actor in the world who can make this role stand forth as the author intended it, but you are starting in 'Bluebeard.'"

Byron accepted the proposition and Harris made his proposition to Byron effectively in the following words: "You are the only actor in the world who can make this role stand forth as the author intended it, but you are starting in 'Bluebeard.'" hold "Bluebeard" until "Lady Crispin" had completed its run, but Byron would have none of it. He was glad to oblige Harris and help him.

Harry Mestayer, California actor, is distinguishing himself in the role of General Christopher in the play "The Circus" at the California Theater.

He insisted on being content with "featuring" and all the persuasion of Harris and Miss Bainter could not make him change his mind.

And that is the story they are telling on Broadway and every one of the considerers admit it's truth except Byron. He refuses to discuss the matter.

Every actor can tell a number of amusing experiences, but those who follow the cult of Shakespeare, perhaps, have the greatest variety. Which is but a preface to another story told by Tyrone Power, who is the dignified and impressive king to the "dignified" of John Barrymore.

Power has had more Shakespearean experience than most of the players now engaged in acting and is a mine of humor when he is inclined to treat of the lighter side.

He remembers once in a performance of "Julius Caesar," the actor remarked recently, "and how the cast was upset by a remark from the audience. It was in a smaller town than New York and in the assassination scene when Brutus strikes Caesar to the death, a trick dagger was used, and it did not work. Several ineffectual attempts were made to register a mortal wound without effect. The show was all but broken up when a gallery girl called out to a pal on the other side of the house:

"Gen, Mickey! he's a tough bird, ain't he?"

EXITS AND ENTRANCES.

Henry Santrey and his orchestra are to provide music for a dance at the Hotel Oakland on Friday evening. This is one of the series of stunts of the Vaudeville Artists' Association to raise money for the sick fund. In each city he plays Santrey gives a dance. The gross receipts go to the fund. According to Santrey the dance will start at eleven o'clock and continue until two, and specialties will be offered by visiting members of the association.

Harry Mestayer, California actor, is distinguishing himself in the role of General Christopher in the play "The Circus" at the California Theater.

Czarina," in which Doris Keane is starred.

Emma Haig, the dancer who fell months ago and broke her neck, is in the harness again. She is cavorting about the stage as agile as ever in "Our Nell," a new musical comedy.

Hugh Huntley is mentioned as the logical successor to Lowell Sherman in "The Fool." Sherman is now rehearsing for "The Masked Woman."

H. B. Warner, star of "Bull Dog Drummond," recently received a scarf pin containing a nugget of virgin gold taken from the Ballarat mine in Australia. Warner was in Australia during the Ballarat gold strike when admission to the theater was paid in uncoined gold.

Warner and C. H. Croker-King, the principal villain in "Bull Dog Drummond," have taken out accident insurance against loss of performance through injuries caused by broken glass during their appearances. They stage a thrilling battle in the third act during the course of which they overturn much laboratory equipment used in the setting.

Comes now the annual report that Eddie Foy and his family are to come out in a full-sized comedy. This time Willard Mack is doing the book and lyrics, and Byron Foy, the oldest son, is composing the music.

"Up She Goes" entered its fifth week at the Playhouse under the direction of William A. Brady on Monday. This is a musical comedy interwoven with lilt and captivating music, according to reports.

"The World We Live In," the insect comedy by Brady, is now in its eighth week at Jolson's Fifty-ninth street theater.

Constance Farber, who appeared in "The Demi-Virgin" last season and previously was in vaudeville with her sister, is engaged to wed Herbert de Rover, vice-president of the Hamilton Institute in New York next month.

CENTURY OFFERS LAUGHTER, GOOD MUSIC APLENTY

"That Reminds Me" Gives Leaders Opportunity to Display Real Skill.

"That Reminds Me," as the title of the new musical melange at the Century theater indicates, has to do with one of those amiable liars of the Lightnin' Bill Jones type, who simply must draw on his imagination to matter how much easier the truth would be.

Jack Russell essayed the role of "Bill," the prevaricator, and again demonstrated his ability to shroud his own personality in the role he assumes. He was Bill to the life and laughter followed continually in his wake at the matinee performance.

The scene of "That Reminds Me" is a farm house in the gold country and the setting was especially fine. It is here that the story is told of the miner who dies wealthy but requests that his daughter be kept in ignorance of his death until she has finished school.

Ruby Land was the comely daughter of the departed miner and Walter Spencer as the foreman of the ranch had the task of explaining why he had not advised her. The usual complications follow with Bill making things worse by his imaginative explanations.

"That Reminds Me" marked the opening of the new Century quartet and judging from the reception the organization received yesterday it is a welcome addition to the company. The four young men are good harmonizers and offered a pleasing program of songs and ditties.

Other musical numbers to score were the Virginia Reel in which Russell figured prominently; "Ole

WOMAN HELD ON DRIVING CHARGE

ALAMEDA, Dec. 5.—Mrs. Grace Dolphin, 2124 Clement avenue, was held to answer to the superior court by Judge L. R. Weinmann on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. Bill which was set at $1000, was furnished through Myron Harris and A. L. Sullivan, attorneys for Mrs. Dolphin.

According to Judge Weinmann, this is the first time a woman has ever appeared before him for a hearing on a charge of operating a machine while under the influence of liquor.

Mrs. Dolphin was arrested by Policeman Louie Cook, after, it is charged, she had collided with a machine owned by Frank Navarrete, while it was parked in front of 1812 Lincoln avenue.

Theodore Anderson, desk sergeant at the time of Mrs. Dolphin's arrest, testified to the condition of the woman.

Several months ago Mrs. Dolphin received considerable publicity when she offered a home to Rose Coughlin, destitute New York actress.

LODGE TO GIVE BANQUET.—ALAMEDA, Dec. 5.—Oak Grove Lodge No. 215, F. & A. M., will act as hosts next Thursday night at a stated meeting to officers and members of both Apollo and Woodstock lodge of Masons of this city. Election of officers for the ensuing year will be held preceding the evening's program. At its conclusion a banquet will be served.

"Swimmin' Hole," by the Knight Sisters, "Tennessee Moon," by Jackie Bruner, backed by Ruby Lang, and a duet by Russell and Jackie Adair entitled "Honey Be-have."

"That Reminds Me" abounds in laughs, good music, pretty girls, nifty costumes and fetching scenery.—W. S.

DAVID AND THOMAS OAKLAND THIRD AMONG FASTEST GROWING CITIES

Los Angeles and Birmingham Only Are Ahead in Development.

Oakland is the third fastest growing city in the United States. This was the statement printed recently in an English newspaper, according to Ornton E. Lucas, publisher of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, who spoke yesterday before members of the Electric club at their luncheon at the Hotel Oakland.

The next ten years, declared Lucas, will be the greatest ten years from the standpoint of growth and development in the entire history of the city.

"An Oakland man was in Washington the other day," Lucas said, "when one of several eastern business men in the party was remarking about the quotations which listed us as third."

OAKLAND THIRD ON LIST.

After speaking of Los Angeles and Birmingham, he said: "I'll bet you there isn't a man in the crowd that ever heard of the third fastest growing city in the United States today. It is a city in California known as Oakland."

"Needless to say, the Oakland man made his identity known and told the easterners something of our remarkable position on the eastern side of San Francisco bay. This incident proves a fact which we all know—Oakland at the present time is not well known. I am justified in stating that there are now more than 350,000 residing in the cities on this side of San Francisco bay."

"Our advance in nearly all lines during the last three years has been particularly rapid. This is reflected in our bank clearings, our shipping records and our list of new industries."

"Beginning with the last of these items, I draw your attention to the fact that fifty-six new factories, many of them branches of the biggest corporations in the United States, have either purchased land or begun the construction of plants here during the last eleven months."

MANY NEW PLANTS.

"Among these are the General Electric Company, which owns twenty-three acres on East Fourteenth street, and has begun construction of the first unit of a big plant. This is to be one of the series of factory buildings owned by this company and will cover 35,000 square feet of ground space. The new industries for the last eleven months, when ready for operation, will represent a total of local investment of nearly $2,000,000. They will give employment to 2500 additional men and will add nearly $5,000,000 to our annual payroll."

"The building permits this year will be something in excess of $24,000,000, or approximately $2,000,000 per month, by far the highest year in the history of the city."

California-Born

To Give Big Ball

The annual grand ball and entertainment given by State Son and Native Daughter Parlors to raise money necessary to carry on their work of "putting homeless children in childless homes," will be held by Alameda county parlors tonight at the Arcadia Dancing Pavilion, Fourteenth and Franklin streets. The entire hall has been taken over for the evening, and decorated to produce a carnival effect. The Arcadia's regular orchestra will provide the music. Between dances, entertainment features will be presented.

Gems Gone From

Dead Man's Trunk

When the trunk containing the property of Charles Douglass, who died on November 3, was opened last night it was discovered that a diamond ring and a diamond stickpin were missing. The jewelry was put in the trunk by the manager of the hotel in which Douglass was stopping at the request of Dr. J. J. Kergan, who was the attending physician. The theft was reported to the police by F. Smith, a son-in-law.

VISALIA MAN JAILED.

John Davis was arrested at his home, 1610 Fifth street, on a felony warrant from Visalia last night.

Applicants for Insurance

Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is being realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper—Advertisement.

WRITER CHOSEN CITY TO GOVERN

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—John A. McGroarty, well-known author and newspaper writer, was a mayor today, but he didn't have any city. It happened this way. McGroarty lives at Tujunga, a settlement in the Verdugo hills, near here. Recently speakers have torn parts of the town clear off and night they hit the only real estate office and scattered it all over the landscape. Residents, unable to get adequate help from the deputies to spare those needed, decided to incorporate. They held an election Saturday. There were two propositions. One was that McGroarty be elected mayor of Tujunga. The other was that certain territory become the incorporated town of Tujunga. McGroarty was elected by a large majority. Incorporation was defeated by a large majority. So McGroarty is a mayor, but of nothing. Linseed oil is best for removing paint from the hands.

Activities of WOMEN

Marysville Girl to Wed Saturday

The wedding of Miss Mary Blanche Rider of Marysville and Harold La Verne Stafford, who has renching interests in that section of the country, is to take place Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother in Division street, in this city. Miss Rider is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rider and has spent much of her time in Marysville the last year, since the announcement of her betrothal. Half a hundred guests will be present at the nuptials, the service to be read by Rev. C. O. Colegrove of the Methodist Episcopal church. There will be a bridegroom, Miss Alida Wiseman of Marysville and Miss Lillian Burton of this city. Stafford is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stafford of Marysville.

Miss Florence Deane, who has been the house guest of Mrs. Elmer Booth of Euclid avenue, has returned to her home in Los Angeles. Miss Deane accompanied Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Chappel of this city to Europe this summer and on her return spent a month at the Booth home in this city. She was the motif for a number of social affairs during her visit.

The Misses Bernice and Dorothy Douglas, daughters of Mrs. R. H. Douglas of Claremont, were hostesses at a shower Saturday afternoon entertaining in honor of a bride-elect, Miss Lulu Foss. Miss Foss is the niece of William Foss, a senior at the University of California.

MISS FLORENCE DEANE, who has returned to her home in the south after a month's sojourn here with friends. —Scharz Photo.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Foss. Among the guests were the Misses Charlotte Moore, Josephine Pink, Mrs. L. Haines, Mrs. Clarence Wiley, Miss Ruth Wetherby, Miss Helen Brady, Miss Leah Simpkins, Miss Anna Foss, Miss Margaret Flynn, Mrs. Daniel Harrington, Mrs. Frederick Foss, Jr., and Mrs. Foss, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph David Schmidt, whose wedding took place on the week end, have taken a home in High Court, Berkeley, where they will reside upon their return from their honeymoon. Mrs. Schmidt was Miss Gladys White. She is working for her master's degree in zoology at the University of California.

The service took place out of doors in the gardens of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Davis in Berkeley. Rev. Alexander Barton, student chaplain of St. Mark's Episcopal church officiating, Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Schmidt is the daughter of Mrs. Ada White of Sacramento.

PLAN WEDDING FOR THE WINTER.
A wedding to take place this winter is that of Miss Jean Thyrta Hunt of Alameda, betrothed of Marcus Frank Church of Denver, who has been the house guest of Mrs. William Bradford Hunt. The nuptials are planned for the early spring.

December 8, Miss Virginia Silverstone is to be the guest of honor at which the guest of honor will be Miss Jean Thyrta Hunt of Alameda, betrothed of Marcus Frank Church of Denver, who has been the house guest of Mrs. William Bradford Hunt. The nuptials are planned for the early spring.

Mrs. Henry Grady was hostess at a tea at the Palace hotel in San Francisco, yesterday afternoon, places being set for a dozen or more friends from across the bay.

CHRISTMAS BAZAAR AT PIEDMONT CHURCH.

The Ladies' Guild of the Piedmont Interdenominational church will hold a bazaar Thursday and Friday from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. to raise funds for their charity budget of the new year. Low priced articles for Christmas are to be sold by the ladies and younger girls of the church. Candles, jams, jellies, sweetmeats and articles of fancy work are to be sold. Luncheon will be served at a hot dog booth, which is a feature of the bazaar.

Mrs. William E. Sharon is acting president, and among those who are assisting her at the bazaar are Mesdames Morris Johnson, Grand Richardson, L. H. Francis, Paul Coops, Harriett Mann, C. H. Bradley, Arthur W. Foshay, McPherson, Francis Thomas, Gertrude Thomas, Horace Strother, Albert Gorie, M. H. Cox, Geraldine Oter, Charles Hill, Groverlow and the Misses Myra and Jeanette Goussie, Charlotte Playter, Truxa Mouser, Everett Morsemann and others.

Miss Phoebe Matthews is to entertain Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss Myrtle Scott, whose engagement to Alfred Reid Matthews was announced. In the guest list will be a number of the former college classmates of the bride-to-be. Miss Scott is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Scott of Berkeley. The betrothal was announced at a luncheon given by Miss Margaret Breedlove at the L. N. Breedlove home.

MODESTO GIRL TO BE BRIDE.

The engagement of Miss Vera Bernice High, daughter of Mrs. Mary High of Modesto, and Malin Langstroth, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Langstroth of Riverbank, is being made known to their friends about the bay. The bridegroom elect formerly made his home in this city and was a member of the class of 1913 of the University of California.

The engagement of Miss High was announced at a bridge tea at the High home given by Mrs. High and Mrs. H. L. Herron. Miss High was a University of California student and attended several summer sessions at Stanford. In the war, Langstroth served as an ensign. He is a Zeta Phi fraternity man and engaged in farming near Riverbank.

ATTACK ON BRIDGE FAILS.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Dec. 5.—An attempt to dynamite the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway bridges on the western outskirts of this city early last night failed to do material damage. This was the sixth dynamite case here or nearby since the coopers' strike began last July.

Art Group Will Be Guests At "Frolic"

By EDNA B. KINARD.
"A Frolic" is announced by Mrs. M. H. Lapham, chairman of art, in Alameda district, California Federation of Women's Clubs, at her home in Taft avenue tomorrow. To that list of prominent women who are curators of art in the local federated clubs or as presidents of the various organizations, have been included in the monthly "at home" at which the district leader has presided have been added curators of music and literature sections for the holiday program.

"The Virginia Reel" will focus the attention of the guests. From the time of the Puritans to the modern ballroom, it will be demonstrated by Miss Jessie Hering, a gifted young woman, versed in "Morris dancing," whose training was gained largely in London. In addition, Mrs. Lapham has arranged some delightful features for the pleasure of those women who are not overlooking the influences of the finer arts upon the community and who are fostering its ideals through their organized groups.

Mills College club of Alameda county will open a holiday shop in which all manner of lovely gifts at reasonable costs may be found, as well as the exquisite Christmas wreaths for which the members have become famous throughout the community. With Europe lending its art to the inspiration of Yuletide wreaths combining fruits with the traditional greenery, Mrs. Thomas Mitchell Potter has become an expert in the manufacture of holiday decorations, contributing her gift to the Mills College reunion. Gifts are being received for the beautiful symbols of the season.

Plans for the shop which will be operated during the fortnight preceding the holidays will be definitely outlined at the Thursday meeting of the club. Miss Jennie Gregory is opening her home to Mills women for their December program. Mrs. Mary Nichols, Mrs. Charles Frost, Miss Kate Stabler, Mrs. Alice Cunningham, Mrs. Percy Mott, Mrs. Don Smith and Mrs. J. W. Bingham will assist in receiving.

Her cent trip to Europe will be reviewed during the program by Mrs. W. H. Bryington, president. Mills students will offer the group of musical numbers.

Mrs. Mary Carr Comyns, who sails this week for her home in New Zealand, was honored by Oakland War Mothers at a beautifully appointed farewell luncheon today at the Wild Duck Tea room overlooking Lake Merritt and the duck feeding grounds. During her visit here the distinguished woman has been well entertained and has contributed largely to the interests of the War Mothers, particularly the Gold Star group, of which Mrs. Charles J. Waterhouse is chairman. Mrs. Comyns is herself a Gold Star mother, having given her son in the World War. She is a member of the school board in New Zealand and of the hospital board of managers.

A large number of guests will cross the bay tomorrow to attend the program of Laurel Hall Club, which will feature Mrs. Roger Noble Burnham in a charming address on "Little Independent Theaters by Amateurs." Music will be offered during the afternoon by Mrs. Thomas Alexander East, cornet, and Mrs. Ethel Barnes Karmel, voice. A group of readings will be given by Mrs. Ralph Seely.

Mrs. Harry J. Schueler of Berkeley is president of the club. Mrs. A. F. Romaine will act as hostess tomorrow.

With plans for a Junior membership in the Oakland Business and Professional Women's Clubs rapidly developing, the report of a special committee appointed to launch the movement will be heard with interest at the Thursday luncheon. The noon hour will be given over to a business meeting.

Glenview Club women will devote Thursday to business matters when they meet in the Park boulevard clubhouse. To vary the monotony of the routine, a special program of community singing is announced. Mrs. H. J. Platts is president of the active group.

Fred Finch Orphanage children were treated to home sweets through the generosity of Cleveland women last week. The delicious stock of confections which remained from the annual County Fair, sponsored by Oakland Federation of Mothers' Clubs, was appropriated for the boys and girls in the East Oakland institution as a special treat.

Counting up their finances prior to the holidays, the Cleveland association finds itself with $282.16 in the treasury. A "Fathers' Night" has been announced to be held in the school auditorium Friday. Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter will be the principal speaker.

ACCUSES WIFE OF CRUELTY.
Accusing Mrs. Irene Blandino with entertaining other men in their home at 601 Forty-sixth street and with calling him names, beating him and sticking him with a hairpin during a quarrel, Louis J. Blandino has brought suit for divorce. He averred they were married in Portland, Ore., January 11, 1917, and have three children, ages 5 to 2, of whom he asks custody.

Two Brothers Die

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 5.—Two brothers were electrocuted here last night, one dying in an effort to save the other. While George Castleberry, a painter, 23 years old, was removing an electric light bulb from a socket he came in contact with a live wire and was almost instantly killed. His younger brother, William, 18, seeing his plight, attempted to pull him away, but also was electrocuted.

Former Lockford

LOCKFORD, Dec. 5.—Word has just been received here of the death of Jesse Dial, in Los Angeles. The body will arrive Thursday for burial in Harmony Grove cemetery near here. Dial was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dial, pioneers of this place. No particulars of the cause of death have arrived. Dial had lived in the southern city for some years.

U. D. DAVE POST OF CAMPAIGN FOR UNMERGER

Shippers' Chairman Says the S. P. Threatens Discrimination in Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (By the Associated Press.)—Increased competition in railroad service along the Pacific Coast would result from separation of the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific systems, which has been ordered by the supreme court, Van Bernard, chairman of the executive committee of the California Producers' & Shippers' Association, told the Interstate Commerce Commission today during its hearing on the application of the Southern Pacific for retention of the Central Pacific system.

During exchanges on cross examination counsel for the Southern Pacific, Bernard agreed that he was "getting worse" from the Union Pacific railroad for organizing producers to urge the separation of the state.

Bernard asserted that railroad competition particularly in California territory, would reduce car shortages and expand markets for producers of the state.

The Southern Pacific, after being ordered by the supreme court to give up control of the Central Pacific, has started a campaign all over the west to influence public opinion and had used threats of discrimination in car supply against shippers, he said, to force them into its support.

Wood, by questions which indicated he considered the Union Pacific to be entirely responsible for the creation of Bernard's organization, went into its expenditures at considerable length, showing the publication of the Union Pacific advertisements and issuing of literature.

"As far as I know all the bills contracted by the producers' association have been paid by the Union Pacific," Bernard testified, "and I have made no secret about it."

UNION PACIFIC AID. H. H. Corey, representing the Oregon public service commission, also was heard, declaring that while his commission did not wish to take sides in the main controversy, it regarded some details of the Southern Pacific's plan as threatening to interfere with the work of the new railroad construction in central Oregon. Another Oregon citizen, William Pollman, representing the State Cattle and Horse Raisers' association, and the Northwest Livestock Shippers' association, testified that the best interests of the territory required separation of the two systems.

Edward P. Tredwell, attorney for the California Producers' and Shippers' association, told the commission his organization had 600 members who advocated complete separation of the lines.

Fred H. Wood, counsel for the Southern Pacific, testified that he was not working with the Union Pacific in its effort to force the separation.

RAISIN GROWER WITNESS. The Union Pacific has openly contributed and assisted the work of the producers' association, Tredwell testified, "but our members are not pledged to forward any disposition of the Central Pacific to the Union Pacific, or otherwise. We are simply seeking to urge the carrying out of the supreme court decree."

Charles Torgue, a Fresno raisin grower, called to testify in behalf of the California association, declared competition in the west was needed in California and that it would be increased by separation of the merged systems.

Wood again raised the point of Union Pacific activities when E. Howard, a Salt Lake banker, advocated separation. Howard, in answer to his questions, said the Oregon Short Line, a Union Pacific subsidiary, had contributed money for newspaper advertising in support of division of the systems to a Utah committee of which he was a member.

La Fayette Hanchett, president of the Utah Power & Light Co., another member of this committee, suggested that the Central Pacific, if turned into an independent transcontinental line, could be electrified and he argued that this would reduce the cost of operation.

102 Owners Benefit By Bisagno Estate

One hundred and two friends and relatives, including persons named in public will, will benefit through the distribution of the $232,000 estate of Joseph Bisagno, former vice agent. The distribution was ordered by Superior Judge Robinson today.

The will, which was submitted to the test of a contest brought by four cousins and which was upheld, divides the estate into 250 shares, and on this basis the shares are valued at $1400. Those receiving legacies under the will include: Marjorie Rameau, the actress, one share; George Gross, county clerk, one share; Superior Judge James G. Quinn, four shares; Superior Judge J. J. Van Nostrand, of San Francisco, one share; Dr. John Galloway of San Francisco, one share; William Fitzmaurice, former city tax collector, one share; Asa V. Mendelhall, three shares; Mrs. Mattie White, matron at the county jail, three shares; Dr. H. S. Buehn, one share; William J. Buehn, Oakland city commissioner, one share. Bisagno's home was at 21 Moss avenue. His death occurred November 4, 1919.

Raymond Brown's Mother Is Sought

The Central Committee on Homeless Children, one of the committees of the Native Sons and Daughters, has sent a communication to The TRIBUNE from San Francisco, asking that an effort be made to locate Evelyn Clifford Brown, mother of Raymond Brown. It is asked that she communicate with the Native Sons and Daughters Central Committee on Homeless Children, 935 Theban building, San Francisco.

The committee took the child some time ago while the mother was ill. Later the mother left San Francisco and is believed to be in Oakland.

Theosophist Head Of U. S. to Speak

The first opportunity given relatives in this country to send clothing remittance to families in Russia is offered through the Jewish Relief Federation of Oakland, 927 Broadway. The local organization has been appointed to represent the Joint Distribution Committee of New York in the Eastbay communities. Hereafter anyone desiring to send clothing to friends in Russia may do so through the Oakland office.

For each $20 clothing remittance approximately the following materials may be sent: 4 1/2 yards all wool cloth in dark colors, sufficient for suit of either man or woman or two children's outer garments; 4 yards lining, 15 yards muslin, sufficient for 4 suits of

THREE OBJECTS STRESSED DURING EDUCATION WEEK

Special Programs Given in Schools to Enlighten Parents on Work.

The special program for "American Education Week" which began yesterday throughout the United States, was under way today in every school in Oakland and the Eastbay generally.

Three principal objects are stressed in the program that is being presented to parents with the actual work of their children during the school day.

1. To acquaint both parents and children with the objectives of education as these are seen by those in charge of the work.

2. To acquaint both parents and children with the real nature of Americanism and good citizenship.

AMS CARRIED OUT. These various aims are being carried out this week by the extending of invitations to all parents and others interested to visit the schools and observe the actual processes of modern education; and by presenting a program of lectures and events which bring out the objects of educational leaders both as to education in general and also as to education along patriotic and civic lines.

Simultaneously with the exercises in the schools special programs are also being given by churches, clubs, friends and social and fraternal organizations.

Special days have been set aside as follows: Tuesday, Patriotism Day; Wednesday, School and Teacher Day; Thursday, Literacy Day; Friday, Equality of Opportunity Day; Saturday, Physical Education Day.

EDUCATIONAL PHASES. Each of these phases of education is stressed in the program arranged for the week.

Today's exercises and addresses throughout the city showed the flag as the emblem of freedom, music as a nation builder, the desirability of universal use of the English language, and the citizens' duty to vote.

The program for tomorrow, which is School and Teacher Day, will emphasize the necessity of schools, the teacher as a nation builder, the schools' influence on the coming generation, and Americanism as an educational ideal.

LEGALITY ISSUE HOLDS UP SOFT DRINK MEASURE

SAN LEANDRO, Dec. 5.—Because Mayor Allen E. Pelton said he believed an ordinance calling for a midnight closing of soft drink parlors, with establishment of glass fronts and elimination of partitions and booths of such places of business might prove illegal, the measure was not accepted by the city trustees here last night.

Mrs. Susie Dabiel, who presented and sponsored the proposal, will continue her fight on the subject.

Subsequent presentation will probably be made in two weeks.

The auto parking time limit in the business section was increased from 30 to 40 minutes for automobiles. Trucks may park as long as it takes to load or unload.

Purchaser of a large fire alarm was left in the hands of Bert Rogers, chief, and the committee in charge of such affairs.

DADDY OF SEVEN IS RELEASED ON TRAFFIC CHARGE

SAN LEANDRO, Dec. 5.—Louis Nofria, of this city, appeared before Judge W. J. Gannon yesterday afternoon on a charge of driving his truck. He pleaded guilty.

"First of all," Deputy District Attorney James Walsh, "you've got seven children."

"Seven babies!" marveled Walsh, turning to Judge Gannon. "I recommend that this case be dismissed. A man with seven children does not deserve a fine, but a medal!" Judge Gannon was agreeable.

"Am I free now, is that all?" Nofria asked.

"Except—you might take a little of the $20 that it might have cost you and buy those babies of yours some candy."

Chamber to Outline Activities for Year

SAN LEANDRO, Dec. 5.—Plans for a mass meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the affairs of the organization will be outlined for the ensuing year, are being arranged by Charles B. Granger, secretary. The year ends with the close of the fiscal year of the chamber, and a gathering conference is necessary if activities are to be continued. A previous scheduled meeting was postponed because of the advent of Thanksgiving. Election of officers, together with a board of directors, setting of the amount of dues, and adoption of a program will be effected at the meeting.

POLICEMAN RESIGNS. Policeman Fred O. Shipton today resigned from the department. His resignation came as the result of alleged violations of police rules and regulations. The charges were preferred against him by Lieutenant Fred Shroger of the central division. He had been a member of the department for more

What is Americanism? Define It and Win $50

How many of those who are to become American citizens within the next few years, by the simple and easy process of attaining their majority, know what it really means to be an American? How many, in fact, of their parents—those who have already become American citizens in the same easy fashion—know the real meaning of the privilege that has been conferred upon them?

In a 50-word definition, every public school student, anywhere in the Pacific Coast, is asked to define the word "Americanism" by the TRIBUNE to express his or her idea of what Americanism actually means. And there is no rule against the children obtaining help from their parents in the preparation of these definitions.

For the best definitions received, the TRIBUNE will give three cash prizes—of $50, $30 and $20, respectively—provided they are mailed in after Sunday, December 10, and reach the "Americanism Editor" of the TRIBUNE before midnight of Friday, December 15.

Oldest Shriner Celebrates His 97th Birthday

William B. Brown, the oldest Shriner in the world, celebrated his ninety-seventh birthday anniversary yesterday. He is one of the pioneer Masons of California, and resides with his daughter, Mrs. A. B. McElhahan, 2121 Blake street, Berkeley.

Several days ago Brown suffered injuries in a fall, which confined him to his bed. A number of friends and relatives yesterday visited and congratulated the aged man, and he received scores of messages by mail.

In the days of '48 Brown crossed the plains as a prospector and later became a rancher. He went to Alaska during the gold rush and retired shortly after his return.

Brown is a charter member of San Jose Lodge of Masons.

STOLEN JEWELS RECOVERED BY CLEVER WORK

ALAMEDA, Dec. 5.—William Walmuth, chief of police of Alameda, and Bert Conant, sergeant of detectives, were congratulated by city officials today for the work they accomplished which resulted in the return of approximately $150 worth of stolen jewelry to Mrs. W. P. Anderson, 1577 Lincoln avenue, and the arrest of one self-confessed thief and the arrest of a suspicious character.

The men arrested are held in the city jail. They are Carl Schabron, 22, who admits stealing the jewelry, according to the police, and who is on parole from San Quentin, and Frank Jackson, 25, who was sent to the county jail for thirty days last March by Judge L. R. Weismann for vagrancy.

The men were seen by Walmuth and Conant several days ago about dusk when they were returning from Oakland. They were acting in a suspicious manner, according to Walmuth, and after being convinced that their actions would bear investigation the men were arrested and taken to the station. Search at the police department revealed a number of pawn tickets on Schabron. He admitted, Walmuth declares, that the tickets were for jewelry he had stolen from the Anderson home November 10.

The police are holding Schabron until a decision is reached whether to try him on a burglary charge or return him to San Quentin to complete his sentence, which is from one to fifteen years.

Children to Aid in Elks' Charity Show

ALAMEDA, Dec. 5.—For the first time in the history of the Alameda Elks' charity shows two small children have been chosen to participate in the show. The children are the leading lady, according to William Varcoe, coach.

The children are six-year-old June Lowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lowman, and Irma Tiedemann, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Tiedemann of Clinton avenue. Varcoe declares the children will be an added attraction and that their work is most commendable.

The committee in charge of the tickets reports a brisk sale. The benefit production this year is to free acts. It will be given in the Palace theater for four consecutive nights, beginning December 12.

The cast of characters as announced by Varcoe today follows: Tiny June Lowman as Claudia in the first act; Irma Tiedemann as Claudia in the second act; Mrs. P. B. Plummer as Claudia in the third act; Miss Marie Williams as Phoebe Puckers; Mrs. Ruby Hannah, as Alice Travers; R. B. Valenau, William Peyton; L. R. Newman, Jack Rodney; J. M. Dech, Marian Burton; A. A. Hobe, Jr., Ballington; A. C. Stewart Jr., Yadder; Edgar Kelly, Fritz; Harold W. Webb, truckman.

Health Center to Meet in Library

SAN LEANDRO, Dec. 5.—The monthly meeting of the San Leandro Health Center will take place tomorrow afternoon in the auditorium of the public library. Mrs. Mary E. Merrill, president, will preside. The meeting will be given over to reading of reports of the past month's activities, and the outlining of a program for the pending year. General health topics will be presented and discussed.

Proposals for improvements or additions to the present arrangements will be made by Mrs. Helen Bramhall, public health nurse.

CONFESSION TO LOOT BIG ESTATE OF BROKER CHARGED

Claim That L. A. Man Is Held in Sanitarium and Money Taken.

SAN JOSE, Dec. 5.—Alleging that a conspiracy exists among his relatives to deprive Sanford L. Wood, Los Angeles broker, of his library and property, papers were filed in Superior court here late yesterday in a suit to tie up the rentals of a home at Saratoga.

The complaint, filed by attorneys for the Union Bank & Trust Company of Los Angeles, represents that Wood's wife, Eva Wood, and J. A. Evans and Harriet Evans, Mrs. Wood's son-in-law and daughter, are the conspirators; that they have kept him confined in the psychiatric ward of a Los Angeles hospital, and that it is their design to have him confined to a hospital for the insane and to appropriate to their own use his property, consisting of stocks and bonds said to be of great value, and a $25,000 home in Los Angeles.

The defendants named in the complaint are said to have rented property belonging to Wood at Saratoga to John Brun, formerly of San Francisco, for $300 a month, and to be diverting the income to their own purposes.

Regarding the Los Angeles home, located at 5415 Hampden street, it is stated in the complaint that it was sold for $20,000, or $6000 less than its actual value. It is also alleged that the defendants, getting possession of the keys to Wood's safe deposit box, withdrew and sold stocks and bonds worth $10,000.

The Union Bank and Trust Company, plaintiff in this action, contends that Wood was placed in detention October 20, 1921, and that the bank was appointed his legal guardian on June 25, 1922.

LODGE TO CELEBRATE

Knights of Pythias will celebrate the seventeenth anniversary of the institution of the order. The occasion will be made the more noteworthy by the presence of Jesse W. Carter, grand chancellor commander; M. Burns, past chancellor commander and Judge C. O. Busick of Sacramento.

SECRETARY WALLACE REPORTS.

Notwithstanding the fact that, in general, low prices obtain for farm products in a time when high prices are ruling for other commodities, the position of the farmer is today better than it was a year or eighteen months ago. This is, perhaps, the briefest summary which would be made of the annual report of Henry C. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture.

The farmer Secretary declares that if financial rewards were measured out in proportion to the results of honest, productive effort, the farmers of the nation would have little reason to complain of the year just passed. The total acreage of the 14 principal crops for 1922 is 237,000,000 acres or 7,000,000 acres above the ten year average and but 1,000,000 below last year's record. Production from these acres is estimated at 265,000,000 tons, 11,000,000 tons above last year and above the ten year average. It is a great and record total.

"There is food in superabundance," Secretary Wallace says, "and this contributes to the prosperity of business and industry for a time, but the inadequate return which the farmer is receiving, and has received for three years, inevitably must result in readjustments in the number of people on the farms and in the cities, which will not be for the continuing good of the Nation."

The problems which face the farmer, except for the car shortage, are no different this year than a year ago. Behind the abnormal relationship of farm prices to the prices of other things, overproduction of many crops, high freight rates, maintenance of industrial wages at war-time levels, depreciated currency in European countries, and the high cost of distribution have played a part. Secretary Wallace says the costs of distribution of some farm products are unreasonably high.

There are hopeful signs of bettering conditions. "Farm products," the Secretary says, "are selling at considerably higher prices, and it is estimated the aggregate value of the crops in the country this year is about a billion and a quarter dollars more than last year. Considerable quantities of these crops will be fed and the increased value will not be wholly recovered by the farmer, but the bare fact that such a large increase in money will reach the farmers' pockets this year is most gratifying and reassuring."

The Secretary of Agriculture recognizes the increasing willingness and desire of people engaged in industry, commerce and finance to help bring about a more favorable adjustment for the farmer. "Such people are coming to realize more and more the menace to themselves in conditions so unfavorable to agriculture as those for the past three years. They now understand more clearly their own future is inseparably linked up with the farmer, and that in doing what they can to help him get on his feet again they are helping themselves as well."

EXPLORING THE SAHARA.

An expedition for exploration unlike any on record is to set out over the sands of the Sahara to penetrate that mysterious region in the center of the desert in which white man has never set foot.

Armored automobiles, traveling in trains, will set out from the north and south borders of the land of danger and secrets and the crews will report on all they find therein. The automobile, it is predicted, will conquer the Sahara.

For a number of reasons the great desert has been able to guard its heart from men of other lands. Fierce tribesmen have escaped pursuit by melting into the haze of inaccessible acres. Trains of adventure have turned back in weariness, or have failed to come back. Hunger, thirst, heat, and the attacks of natives are the dangers of the desert.

Now the French are to brave the eight hundred miles of sand of which the world knows nothing. Romancers have pictured a city of refuge there to which the one-time marauding Arab hordes fled. It is significant the automobile cars which will make the trip are hear-ily armed and the crews are prepared for attack. Romance and adventure demand the trip, whether it be to find a hidden city or just so many more miles of hot sand.

CANAL REVENUE INCREASED.

The recent report of Col. Jay J. Morrow, governor of the Canal Zone, offers proof of efficient administration and a growing world commerce. The figures are for a year which saw a period of widespread business stagnation and yet the net operating revenue of the canal was increased by $750,000 as compared with the preceding twelvemonth.

This increased revenue is to be credited to a reduction in operating expenses rather than to an increase in volume of trade. Another year, figuring on the business through the canal at present, will see a larger tonnage and a larger number of ships making use of the waterway.

The number of ships handled in 1921, the year showing $750,000 in increased revenue, fell from 2892 to 2736 and the cargoes totalled 93.8 per cent of those of the previous year. The feat of returning a larger revenue is so much the more deserving of praise.

What the Pacific Coast is particularly interested in is the statement that the coastwise trade between our ports and the Atlantic is growing rapidly. Colonel Morrow predicts the amount of business now done by the canal will be quadrupled and gives as his reasons the development of this coast trade and of the resources in Colombia, Ecuador, Peru and Chile.

American vessels head the list of those using the canal with British ships second. Fewer American ships passed through, however, than a year before, although the tonnage was greater. Great Britain showed a falling off in vessels and tonnage. On the other hand, Japanese, French, German, Dutch and Swedish vessels registered an increase. America handled 45.5 per cent of the cargo; Britain was next with 30.9 per cent and Japan was third with 9.5 per cent.

A WEEK OF MUSIC.

There is more than one way to celebrate a musical week and Oakland has chosen the feast. In April when the birds sing and the hills, as the poet said, clap their hands, a week of music will tickle and soothe the community ear. It will be a celebration to take in the whole country. Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and the other cities will have their places on the program; there will be a chorus of a thousand voices and the effort will be toward popularizing music in the home and daily life.

There was another city, not long ago, which celebrated a music week by abolishing music for seven days. No orchestra played in the theaters, the restaurants which had served harmony with the hash and the steaks, gave vacations to the players. Not even a phonograph played in the doorway of a store devoted to the sale of such instruments. It was a solemn and silent week and yet it spoke in loud tones for the benefits of music. A city learned how dreary a place it was and its citizens went about asking, "What is the matter? Where is the music?" It was as if there were no salt in the bread, no color in the sunset.

In Oakland's music week there will be no such painful experience. Instead will be given the opportunity for wide participation; the daily, almost hourly, demonstrations of the place of music in life, and the richest gift the musicians may devise. Already one hears its soft strains in the distance.

A FITTING MEMORIAL.

Alameda county is richer today in having carried out in spirit and purpose some part of the program and the aim of Miss Ethel Moore. The Health Center which has been erected to perform, almost unnoticed each day, acts of service which will bring hope and strength to the individual, alter the courses of lives for the better, and be the refuge and harbor of the stricken was dedicated Sunday to the memory of the woman who dreamed of and worked for such a place.

Friends of Ethel Moore erected that building in her memory and yet it was her influence and example which made it possible. She held the hope and the plan for such an institution; the first check received for the fund which was to buy the site came from her.

The plans of Ethel Moore for a health center were carried to completion as her memorial. The building stands today without debt, a place dedicated to daily service. It was something so to have lived that such a memorial is natural and fitting.

The Communist Party in Russia has rejected officially the Einstein theory as contrary to established scientific belief, as bourgeois and, therefore, counter revolutionary. That little matter having been settled the party may now take a vote upon the law of gravitation.

Clemenceau has told us our faults. Next will come Coudé to show us how, every day and in every way, we may grow better and better.

How would you classify the man who says: "I ain't got no use for Education Week?"

It stands to reason the man who does not agree with you is merely playing politics.

O OTHER TITANS

Fothergill Finch, the Boy Bard, called on us recently. You may remember that Fothergill, in despair about ever being able to produce or even understand the very latest thing in the way of advanced verse, blew his brains out some time ago. He is looking very well now, and is producing the newest new poetry at a great rate, and selling it, too. Here is Fothergill's latest poem, which he calls "O Other Titans!"

I sink my teeth
Into the cosmos . . . they Stick
There . . . they Stick there . . .
O Other Titans!
Have we not all
Lost our brains . . . they Stick
They Stick there . . .
Yes, once I saw
A child . . . an imbecile
Child . . . a sweet little Moron, biting his Christmas tree . . . his Teeth
Stick!

In the Gum from the spruce
Stick his Teeth . . .
O Other Titans, do
Not our Teeth
Always Stick!
Let us not despair;
Other Children let Us keep on biting
Our Teeth in
The cosmos
Even though our Teeth
Stick there . . . shall we
Not force the cosmos
To take cognizance of us
Alas! I hear you say
Bald . . . bald inside . . . my Teeth
Are all gone . . . but the Little Moron who bit his Christmas tree did not Wail . . . did not cry . . . he Did not care if he did lose
All his Teeth.
Let us all be little Morons . . .
Blue spruces! Blue spruces!
What a lesson from you!
You are so gummy
And so blue!

One morning, which Fothergill started some months ago, called The Gesture, is to be revived soon. It will print nothing but Fothergill's own poetry.

"THE CHALLENGE"

Our column's fine
Yes, every line,
Some day the great event—
Let's make a call—
Let's hope we all
Are quite equivalent;
The rhyming bard,
Found it quite hard,
To reach our high intent:
We know it's so—
How well we know
Twice—being—underwent:
He moves along—
And sings his song—
And gambles for comment:
He was a fraud—
For "lines" he often sent:
So if we may
We wish to say,
If you are confident
You have the "STUFF"
We'll take your bluff—
—AND—
Challenge DISAPPOINTMENT.

Excerpts from the National Press

Washington Post: "According to reports from Florida, strawberries are selling at $4.25 a quart in local markets—which means that the cost in Northern cities will be much greater. Page Lucullus. It was that Roman worthy who sought to what the dulled palate of his aristocratic friends by introducing a cost element in his wares as an added merit. The dish of peacock tongues that was chronicled to have been an invaluable item on his banquet menus, if cynical observers and commentators of his time are to be believed, appealed to his guests not by reason of superior flavor, but, as modern Croesuses might say, because it tasted like a million dollars."

Christian Science Monitor: "A news report under a Paris date line regarding the invention of a chemical which will destroy the usefulness of poison gas suggests a far-reaching field of inquiry. Why, for example, was $1,000,000 spent last year by the United States in the perfecting of more horrible gases than had ever been known before? Why are countless lives being sacrificed in indescribably terrible experiments testing out the efficacy of these new methods of warfare? And why was not $1,000,000 spent by the United States last year in itself compounding a chemical which would counteract the effects of this invention of evil mind?"

Chicago Tribune: "The attitude of a large body of the American people toward prohibition and the Volstead act is giving President Harding much concern. It is announced that he and his cabinet are alarmed by widespread violation of the enforcement act and by the moral condoning of such lawlessness. The President fears that the respect for all law will be weakened to the great injury of the nation. There is that danger, although it is not so great in fact as it might seem in theory."

Portland Oregonian: "The increasing demands of industries that were comparatively unknown when the republic was young are illustrated by the statement of officials of the American Paper and Pulp association that consumption of waste paper in the United States in 1922 will amount to 1,862,000 tons, or several times the entire paper bill of the country a century ago. A procession of one-ton trucks carrying this product, which a few years ago householders would have paid for hauling away, would reach from Portland, Ore., to Portland, Me., with enough left over to extend from Portland to Roseburg and back. Its value is estimated roughly at $30,000,000."

Goldfield Tribune: "It has no relation to the fair Titania in 'Midnight' but is the ninth most abundant element in the solid crust of the earth and was called after the Greek word which means, 'sons of the earth.' Chemists think titanium is going to be one of the most valuable metals. During the last ten years more scientific interest has been centered upon it than upon any other metal. The United States Bureau of Mines has just completed a thorough study of it and sees an important use for it in manufacture of arc-lamp electrodes, filaments of incandescent lights and in gas mantles."

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

It is a poor saving to assume a rubber hose connects your gas heater. This is the most dangerous little nuisance you can have about your house, fire marshals agree. Rubber is too flimsy a material to trust to when inflammable and explosive gas is concerned. Far better to have a plumber install a pipe connection for you.—Eresno Herald.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE SIDE STREET

Oh, I've been up and down the town.
I've walked with men of high renown,
I've tramped the busy thoroughfares where many a fortune's made,
I've swung my eager way along and jostled with the motley throng
And stopped at wonder windows where the riches are displayed.
I know the thrills the strangers seek, I've lived with them week after week.
I've heard men utter Oh's and Ah's at sights grown commonplace.
But I go past the buildings tall and never notice them at all.
Go past the great stone giants and I never turn my face.
But there's a spreading maple tree can always get a smile from me,
And there's one street in all the town the strangers never find.
A little street, cut East and West, where kindly folk come home to rest,
A gentle, modest thoroughfare, with friendly houses lined,
There's nothing there to stretch the eyes of visitors in glad surprise.
No marvel wrought in steel and stone at which a man would stare,
It's just a quiet, gentle street, where children race on flying feet.
But it's the street I love the best—my little home is there.

Recently in Cleveland Ohio, a father, 48 years of age, and his son, 15 years of age, were killed in a tragedy brought on when an aerial touched a 2200-volt wire. In a hurry to set up a receiving set to hear a radio-phonograph concert, the young son, with the aid of another boy who was severely burned, had attached the aerial to the chimney of his house, and in so doing threw it over a high tension wire. Not heeding the caution of other persons to tie a rope to the aerial, the young man touched it. In the meantime friction of the aerial had rubbed off the insulation of the electric wire, a flash, the youth was killed instantly and his father, who rushed to save him, died within a few minutes. This fatality should serve as a warning to others to be extremely careful in avoiding high-tension wires, and for that purpose this narrative is published. An aerial should never be stretched over or under electric light wires or other wires. It is a dangerous practice, for wires are apt to induce troublesome noises which interfere with the reception of radio signals.—Scientific American.

"I hope you won't object to my guests knowing that I paid you $1000 to entertain them this evening," remarked Mrs. Gawker.

THE MARINES!

By RUDYARD KIPPLING

[Recited by the English poet a year ago at a ball given in Manchester, England, to the officers and non-coms of the United States Marines.]

The day was far spent like our own men. We had sent For support but had waited in vain.

The gray line of fire rolled higher and higher. Then wavered and ebbed back again.

But we knew if the night should put down on the fight We should lose every trench—every pit.

So we lost heart at last when our Colonel went past On a stretcher, white faced and hard hit.

Just then from the rear came a weird yapping cheer High over the rapid fire's hum, And up went OUR shout as our Major shrieked out, "Sit tight, lads—the Yankees have come!"

And they came as at Dover the breakers surge over The cliffs, and they smothered the Hun. Then—we dropped asleep kneeling—and standing—all feeling The job out in front was well done.

They are round us tonight in the ballroom's bright light 'Mid the waltzes' soft surges and foam. Though the hands are now hid in immaculate kid That once drove the bayonet home.

But we know 'till are furled the war flags of the world What the cult of blood-brotherhood means—That their Liberty's light will e'er flash through the night "SIT TIGHT—TILL I SEND MY MARINES!"

SPEAKING OF BUSINESS.

It was Emile Faguet, we believe, who spoke of "the pomp of autumn forests." We like that phrase better than Shelley's description of leaves driven by the west wind as pale and black and hectic red. It so happens that a dry September followed the other autumn Washington, so that the nation's capital is not enjoying the full beauties of this season; but then it is blessed to an unusual degree with trees, and perhaps has a more colorful season than most other cities. And it is a season, we believe, especially calculated to stimulate those faculties and those qualities which go into the more active transactions of business.

When California adopted a golden color scheme for her exposition it was not, we believe, because her hills are golden, nor even in reminiscence of the Forty-niners. It was because that color is associated in the minds of all men with spending! These "yellow" leaves about us are warm, and connote the security of warm firesides. The "beauty of nature's" coloring, the tang of wine-like air, the brilliance and exhilaration of nature, contribute their invaluable stimulation to the psychological factor which goes toward livelier business. Nations meet their fall payments for transactions during the year with a cheerful confidence in the stability and the certitude of things. There is simplicity in every thought of Shelley's immortal last line: "If winter comes, can spring be far behind?"

Spreading the News.
"I hope you won't object to my guests knowing that I paid you $1000 to entertain them this evening," remarked Mrs. Gawker.
"Not at all, ma'am," replied the tenor in saccharine tones. "Would you like for me to pin the check on my coat-lapel just before I sing?"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

CHANSOR CHARGE IS DISMISSED

Case Against Editor of the 'Laughing Horse' Dropped When Attorney Demurs; Students to Act on Matter

BERKELEY, Dec. 5.—The case against Roy E. Chansor, University of California student and publisher of "Laughing Horse," which publication was condemned by college leaders as being "deplorable to student morals," was thrown out of court today by Judge Robert Edgar, on a demurrer by James Koford, attorney for Chansor.

Chansor appeared in court with his co-defendant, Gilbert Simpson, publisher of "Laughing Horse." Both men were charged with violation of section 311 of the penal code, dealing with the circulating of "obscene matter." The complaint against them was sworn to by Jack C. Butler, senior law student at the university.

In filing a demurrer Koford declared that the facts mentioned in the complaint were insufficient. The demurrer was upheld by the court, which ordered the case dismissed.

Butler stated that he would take no steps to reopen the case, but would let the matter rest with the district attorney's office. Chansor and Simpson are still pending against Chansor before the Students Affairs Committee of the University of California.

Subsequent to the court decision in the matter, Attorney Koford declared that the magazine which had formed the bone of contention in the case "was a horse laugh on somebody."

Do a Dog's Kittens Say "Meow-wow" or "Bow-meow"?

"OMAR" and "KI-YI," a brace of kittens adopted by "QUEENIE," a mongrel fox terrier with a motherly heart, ask nothing more than to "loaf and dine, underneath the bow-wow," in cafeteria style. Some of Queenie's regular family is shown, similarly occupied. When interviewed today, Queenie said: "Isn't this the illogical biological cat's whiskers?"

Rotary Club Will Give Entertainment

ALAMEDA, Dec. 5.—The Rev. Harvey Miller, pastor of the First Congregational church, will be the principal speaker tonight at the dinner which the Alameda Rotary club will give in the special hall of the Adelphi club house, in Central avenue. The Rev. Miller has chosen as the subject for his talk "Rotary and Its Applications."

The program will include vocal selections and an old-time minstrel show by the members. Dancing will conclude the entertainment. Ed Silver, president, and Frank Marshall will welcome the guests.

All merchants have been advised to keep a sharp lookout on customers of a mysterious appearance.

Wife Loves Another, Is Divorce Charge

Surprising his wife, Mrs. Mary A. Francon, in the company of Frank Gifford at a public park on November 13, both admitted their love for each other and past associations, declares Alfred H. Francon, a laundry worker, in a suit for divorce filed in the Superior court. Gifford is married, the complaint states.

Recalling that he separated from his wife the next day, Francon proceeds to charge her with being a "slovenly" housekeeper, with poisoning him once by allowing an insect to get into the food, with refusing to cook his breakfast and frequently neglecting to cook dinner.

Terrier Nurses Motherless Kittens, Orphaned Bull Pup

The milk of human kindness can course through other than human veins.

Witness the case of Queenie, the mongrel fox terrier who has proved herself of tender stuff than her blue blooded brothers and sisters.

Last week Ariovistus, a misnamed tabby cat which adopted the Panjunga theater as a home some years ago, presented the manager and the stage crew with twin kittens.

Shortly after the kittens' birthday, Ariovistus became ill unto death, and was taken to the hospital operated by the Nelsons at Fortieth and Broadway.

There it was learned that an operation of a delicate nature was the only thing that would save the lives of the litter. But even that did not take care of the two kittens, who were unable to take care of themselves.

The kittens were removed to the hospital and the Mrs. Nelson advertised for a mother cat to act as wet-nurse to the new family. There were no responses, and then, in despair, the veterinarians thought of Queenie.

This diminutive spit-fire was at that moment engaged in taking care of four puppies of her own, in addition to a tiny English bulldog whose mother had died after a Caesarian operation at the hospital.

Would Queenie care to adopt the two kittens of Ariovistus?

The doctors decided to take the chance. They were failing in their attempt to feed the kittens artificially, and decided that Queenie could do no more than refuse.

But Queenie did just the opposite. She took the kittens to her den, as she did her own, and today there is a strange litter in charge of a strange mother.

Dr. William Nelson, who is in charge of the hospital, says that this is the first and gentlemanly record where a dog has taken kittens as adopted offspring.

The gentle, kindly action of Queenie has had no effect on the disposition of Ariovistus, however. When the two were called upon to pose for a picture they engaged in a "knock-down-drag-out" that would have done justice to a pair of bitter enemies.

CANADIAN ORGANIST DIES.
CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 5.—Dr. Charles F. Davies, 78, known as the king of Canadian organists, died at the home of his son in Shafter Heights, a suburb, today. He was president of the Windsor College and Conservatory of Music, Windsor, Ont. Dr. Davies started his music career when but 13 years old with appointment as organist for St. Peter's cathedral, Kingston Park, London. He won that distinction in competition with fifteen of the most prominent organists in England.

Deer Shooting Case Is Delayed

SAN LEANRO, Dec. 5.—Postponement in an alleged illegal deer shooting episode was agreed upon by Judge W. J. Gannon yesterday afternoon when an attorney for one of several boys implicated asked for time in which to conduct an investigation. The hearing was set for next Monday afternoon at 12 o'clock. Joseph Quadros, originally charged with the shooting, and entering a plea of guilty at a previous hearing but advised to withdraw it, appeared yesterday and entered a not guilty plea. The procedure was halted on the attorney's request.

Donald Montague, 17, and L. Brown, 15, acknowledging guilt of setting off a stink bomb in a local moving picture theater recently appeared before Judge Gannon for next Monday afternoon. The boys were reprimanded.

Housewives Man Boycott. Grand Jury Probe on Milk

A milk boycott, a grand jury investigation, and state legislation to have milk declared a public utility, are planned by leaders of state and Eastbay housewives' organizations today, as the result of what they term the "decidedly unsatisfactory" outcome of a conference held with Eastbay milk dealers regarding the recent increase in the price of milk.

The boycott will be launched by all housewives' leagues of the Eastbay, according to leaders of the various organizations, unless the present retail price of milk, 12 cents a quart, is reduced to 12 cents and will be continued until such a reduction is effected, it was declared.

INVESTIGATION SOUGHT

Request for a grand jury investigation in the milk situation, on charges of an alleged agreement among local and San Francisco dealers to keep the price of milk up, and plans to invoke action of the state legislature placing milk in the public utility class and putting its production and distribution under public control, will be discussed by the executive board of the State Housewives' League at a special meeting to be held tomorrow, according to officers of that association.

The announcements today follow on the heels of a conference which was held late yesterday afternoon between representatives of the various Eastbay housewives' leagues and officials of the Alameda County Milk Dealers' Association, which, the women declare, failed to convince them that the recent rise in the price of milk was justified.

The milk dealers excluded from this meeting all representatives of the press, although these had been invited to attend by Mrs. H. J. Platts, president of the Oakland Housewives' League.

DEALERS DISAGREE, GLAD. The housewives' executives asserted today that during the closed conference the dealers disagreed among themselves as to facts in the milk situation, and refused to answer some of the women's questions.

Among the women who attended the conference were Mrs. H. O. Tenney, president of the Alameda County Housewives' League; Mrs. W. T. Cleverdon, president of the State and the Berkeley Housewives' League; Mrs. H. J. Platts, president of the Oakland Housewives' Association, and Mrs. Mary Stroupe, a delegate from the Alameda organization. J. H. Davidson, president of the newspapermen to remain. Mrs. Platts then insisted that the paid publicity agents of the milk dealers should also be excluded, and this was agreed upon.

SESSION STORMY. The meeting was a stormy one, according to those who were present. At one time, it is asserted, C. A. Flower, an official of a local creamery, threatened to leave, after statistics which he presented had been met with a reply by Mrs. Cleverdon that "statistics sometimes lie."

President Davidson of the milk dealers' association told the housewives that the dealers are now having to pay 5 cents a gallon more for milk than they did in October. Mrs. Cleverdon replied that the retail price of milk had advanced 12 cents a gallon since that time, and wanted to know what had become of the extra seven cents. Davidson said the advance in the milk price was also made by the dealers. Mrs. Platts objected that this fact did not justify the action of the women.

ended, and an earlier one with the Miller Company. Mrs. Platts objected that this fact did not justify the action of the women.

the housewives to pay for it," she said. Mrs. Cleverdon charged the dealers with having entered into an agreement with the San Francisco dealers.

Permanent Relief Afforded Sufferer BY SING HERBS

Mr. Charles Allen, 1615 63rd St., Berkeley, a sufferer from rheumatism and kidney trouble, after trying many doctors and spending thousands of dollars to no avail, finds permanent relief in the Sing Herb treatments.

Oakland, Calif.,
December 2, 1922.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

For the past 2 years I have suffered with rheumatism and kidney trouble, being confined to bed a large part of the time.

I spent thousands of dollars, and consulted many doctors without getting any permanent results.

It was only when I started taking the Sing Herb treatments that I began to grow better, and after only four weeks' treatment I feel better than I have in years. I have spent less money, and gotten greater results with the Sing Herb Specialists than with any of the doctors that I have tried.

I am now able to work steadily again, and feel so thoroughly satisfied with the results that I have obtained from the Sing Herb treatments that I feel it my duty to write this testimonial, hoping that someone else may see it, and gain relief from their sufferings through the truly wonderful treatments of the Sing Herb Specialists.

My Marriage Problems

Oldie Garrison's New Phase Of Revelations of a Wife

THE WAY KATHERINE TOOK LILLIAN'S NEWS.

An unworthy little feeling, not positive enough to be dubbed envy or jealousy, but having in it elements of both emotions, sprang into life at Lillian's word.

So Katherine, in a friendly "accident of trumps," in the game she was playing to learn the identity and malicious design of the man who had been so terribly injured by a motor car just as we were about to overhear his conversation with Katie.

For a tense second the joy with which I was already welcoming Katherine in my thoughts was chilled. Then, with a swift reaction—a feeling of abysmal disgust at my own littleness—I scoured from my soul every vestige of the thought and I frantically hoped that Lillian's keen eyes had not detected any trace of it in my face.

That I would never know, however, and we went on with our plans for Katherine's coming, which included giving her the maximum of rest possible before she would be asked to call for the wounded man.

"It's a crime to rush her over there so soon after her long train journey," Lillian said. "But I simply can't wait. The people here at the time and I must have some body on the spot continually."

"If I know Katherine," I interposed quietly, "I think I do. There will be nothing in the world she will welcome more than a chance to take up her old profession. She won't feel any fatigue, and I'll wager that a few hours rest at the longest will be all she will consent to take. Just remember that she has always had a woman accustomed to heavy work, and keep her tiny house in order and cooking for two must have been child's play."

Katherine's capability, Lillian said, was a thing of the past. She had been starved for some outside interest. Can't you imagine how she'll welcome getting into the great game again in any capacity?"

LILLIAN PRAISES MADGE. "Yes, I can," Lillian answered promptly. "And I would have traded for a farm my first look at her face when she realized the ruse we had played to get her here."

"Neither would I. Therefore, you and I will go to meet her, lucky would be sure to get things mixed up."

"What have you told him about Katherine's coming?"

"That she was coming to us for a visit, taking care of the projected trip, and that she probably would do some nursing if she had a good opportunity. Of course he wanted her for his mother right away."

Lillian made an exasperated little move.

"I might have thought of that," she said. "What did you say?"

"Nothing—knowing Dickie," I replied. "But you'll be able to manage that end of things through Mother Graham. Just give her a hint of why you want Katherine, and her meddling-loving soul will straighten Dickie out admirably, so he will not suspect anything."

"You are a very wise, shrewd and helpful lady, my dear," commented Lillian, and there was an approval in her voice which made my heart beat high with pleasure, and it partly atoned to my soul for my lack of a few words before. And when at last the day Katherine had named in her telegram came, and I drove Lillian to the station to meet her, there was nothing in my heart but joyful loving welcome for my cousin's wife.

"OH, BOY!"

We sat before the train stopped for an emergency. The most child-like, she had come as near as she possibly could to the went back swiftly to the days when I had first met her, and she had crept swiftly and surely into my heart.

She was as slender, as agile, as girlish in general appearance as she had been then. But the face under the most high way eyebrows was thinner than I liked to see it and bore only too plainly the traces of a spirit repressed, of an individuality trying to fit itself into a mold planned by some one else.

I was suddenly glad—really glad—that my brother-cousin had gone so far away. I hoped he would wait a long while before returning—long enough to give this high-spirited girl a chance to be her untrammelled self again. And then I had advanced to meet her, and I had set down her bags mechanically and stared at me as if I were a wall.

"But—she stammered turning to Lillian, "surely I read your wire right! Didn't you say that—"

CHAPTER 31

MYSTERY.

Speed Madhu Gura was going into the silence. He consulted the mystic oracle of the crystal spheres and his astral head was wafted across the threshold into the Spirit-world, where it established contact with the invisible forces.

Speed and Queen, side by side, entered the seance chamber, preceded by Mrs. Quist who, in her childish way, insisted on being the first to enter the presence. The room was better lighted now and the athlete saw that the place was quite small and that the purpose of the seance was designed to conceal the rough walls.

Three chairs were grouped about a bare mahogany table. The variety man seated himself by the side of the girl there.

In one corner of this room squatted the silk-clad figure of the Swami, shifting his attention alternately from the chart to a piece of parchment upon which he was writing and to a crystal sphere supported by a bronze griffin.

His zenith surrounded by his satellites, and contained interpretative words and pictures of queer animals and beasts, all of which evidently conveyed some meaning to this disciple of the occult.

As the Hindu turned from the chart to lean vacantly into the scintillant glass ball, a tiny flame appeared on the surface of the bowl, from which water was dripping from a very small copper pipe. This fire flared up in a tiny blue flame and then died out. It appeared from time to time as the Swami made cabalistic gestures and uttered cryptic words.

Speed leaned close to Miss Quist as if about to say something, but she put a finger to her lips commanding silence.

The youth was overwhelmed by the charm of her. Her head, crowned by a mass of blonde hair, was held proudly giving an arch to the white neck upon which rested stars, recalcitrant curls that had defied the comb. The profile in the half light was a thing of beauty, every feature of the brush and firm, her nose small and regular in outline, while the chin and mouth completed the perfect picture.

Her form was sylphlike yet youthful and vigorous. But it was to this girl's eyes that Speed paid his highest tribute.

They were two gems, magnificent turquoise, that changed in color and expression like chameleons, being at one moment cerulean and laughing and the next indigo, dark, inscrutable.

Now they shimmered somberly like fire just before it breaks into a blaze. The heat had quenched the blinding lightness and had imparted to them a depth like ocean blue.

The Swami had arisen and now came toward them.

"The spirit is weak," he boomed, in resonant tones. "It cannot come through. But the voice is there. Out of the silence has come a whisper. Do you desire to hear it?"

"Yes, yes," cried Mrs. Quist, eagerly, her tone squeakily tremulous.

The Hindu threw a tablet and a pencil on the table.

"Do you write a question that you wish answered on this paper," said the Swami, addressing Speed.

The athlete pondered after a few minutes and then wrote a question, after averting his eyes. "Who killed Madhu Gura?" he wrote. "The Hindu had gone to the other side of the room so that he could not possibly see."

The question was, "Who killed Quist?"

Speed folded this paper over a number of times so that no one could read it by holding it to the light. Then he examined the paper carefully to make sure that no carbon paper was concealed in it.

The Swami extended to him an envelope.

"Place the paper in this envelope," he commanded.

Speed did as he was bid, looking carefully into the envelope to ascertain that no substitute paper was concealed in it. He did not permit his eyes to leave the envelope for an instant. He was conscious of an odor, like ammonia, that seemed to emanate from the stationery.

The Swami sealed it up, placed it on a bronze plate and walked to the burning lamp. Holding the envelope by the tips of his fingers, he ignited it and then waited until it was entirely consumed. Speed was sure that no slight-of-hand work had been practiced. The envelope into which the question was sealed, had been burned before his eyes.

Madhu Gura strode to the vase of water and poured the ashes on the surface. A blue flame burst forth and then became extinct.

The Hindu drew a curtain aside, revealing a hideous image of Siva, before which he knelt. He remained in this posture, rocking back and forth, occasionally muttering incantations in a booming voice.

Presently he arose and came to the table.

From a pocket in his sown he brought out a blank piece of paper and an envelope and handed it to Speed.

"Assure yourself that this paper is blank. Fold it in as you choose and seal it in that envelope which you must not leave out of your hand."

The variety man inspected the paper. It contained no writing of any character. The envelope also was empty, so he obeyed instructions. He held the thing in his hand, determined that no trickery should be imposed upon him.

"The answer to your question will appear in that envelope if you will be patient," said the Swami, calmly.

From a drawer in the table he took a small box, which he proceeded to clean with sponges.

"You see there is nothing on them," he said, placing the slates on the table. Queen first examined them and then Speed took them up. They certainly were clean slates. Secretly he made a mark on the wood to insure against substitution.

Two elastic bands were produced by the medium, who did not touch the slates, and Miss Quist fastened them together with a slide pencil between. Madhu Gura had walked away toward his idol.

Two raps sounded. The noise seemed to come from the table.

"You have your message," said the Swami, calmly. "Open the envelope, Mr. Sargent."

Smiling incredulously, Speed tore open the sealed package and spread the paper on the table. The paper had been blank when he put it in the envelope, which had not left his hands during all this time.

"Great Scott," he exclaimed. "Look at that!"

Written in large letters on the paper was the sentence:

"Napoleon Knott killed Alexander Quist."

"How the devil did you do that?" exclaimed the quarterback. "If this man were a charlatan, certainly he was a clever one. Speed felt certain that he had been tricked, but how? He had watched every move carefully."

"Your question was, 'Who killed Quist?'" averred this marvelous medium.

"Knott did it, the fat beast," vociferated Mrs. Quist. "He did it. Oh Madhu Gura, when can we have him to justice? When can we free my daughter?"

It dawned on Speed how cleverly, irrevocably the Swami had drawn the two women into his net by this magic exhibition of supernatural powers. No one but a cynic, an habitual doubter, could deny the evidence of his own eyes and ears.

A miracle had been performed—a miraculous piece of clairvoyance and automatic writing, still he did not believe it was true.

To him it was but part of a trick to entrap Queen and her mother and rob them of their great fortune by playing upon this speak love.

The Prophet of the Superworld acted strange, the Hindu. He placed his forefingers upon the bound slates. His eyes were closed, muscles tense. He shivered spasmodically. Irritably he arose and began pacing up and down the room.

"The conditions are not good," he muttered. "My control is weak. The spirits do not seem able to come through. Are you asking a mental question, Mrs. Quist?"

"Yes," replied the old lady. "I am."

The other's eyes were fixed on the tall figure with an expression he could not fathom. "He's got her goat," was his mental comment. "And I can't say as I blame her much. This bird certainly can deliver the goods."

He pondered how he would be possible for the fair to make visible appear between the two bound slates. Both had been clamped around them. The Swami had done nothing but touch them with the tips of his fingers. No trick, no magic, no sleight of hand, no medium was about to spring some gag that would give him possession of the slates for a few minutes.

Madhu Gura returned to the table and again took up his position with his finger tips on the slates. His eyes were closed. "You are asking a mental question strongly," queried the Swami.

"Yes, yes," breathed Mrs. Quist. "I long for a message. My heart is calling."

A scratching sound interrupted her. A slate pencil was making for a slate.

Two lines were written on the slate. Speed marveled at it. The hands of everyone present were above the table. Some accomplished them, but the medium was certainly no humbug. Between the two bound slates before their very eyes.

After a time the scratching ceased and two raps informed the audience that the message was

THE MYSTERY EXPLAINED.

Two boys were silently paddling a canoe along a bayou in the Florida swamps. The boys had begged their parents to allow them to try and hunt for their uncle, and had succeeded in getting permission. Their uncle, Mr. Harold King, had been convicted of murder, but had later been found innocent, but not knowing this, he had disappeared in the Florida swamps.

Just as they rounded a turn the canoe stopped with a jerk, and a bullet went through the boys' hats. They stopped, but they heard no sound. So they went on and found that their uncle had been there when a voice said, "Stand up!"

They turned, and right behind them stood their uncle. When he saw them he dropped his gun and ran to them. They quickly told their mission, and he said, "Thank the Lord you were boys and not men, for had you been half an inch taller, he could not say it."

So the mystery was explained.

HAWK EAR.

One there lived a little Indian boy whose name was Hawk Ear. One day he asked his father a question and his father said to him, "Hawk Ear, go up on the hills, and look for a hawk. When you see a hawk, look at his eyes and tell me what you see."

After he had walked a while he stumbled over a stone and fell unconscious in a hole, and when he recovered from his faint he looked around and heard strange voices, and he looked around again, and this time he saw a hawk. He saw the hawk's eyes, and he saw the hawk's feet, and he saw the hawk's talons, and he saw the hawk's beak, and he saw the hawk's claws, and he saw the hawk's wings, and he saw the hawk's tail, and he saw the hawk's head, and he saw the hawk's body, and he saw the hawk's legs, and he saw the hawk's feet, and he saw the hawk's talons, and he saw the hawk's beak, and he saw the hawk's claws, and ODD FACTS

The halo had its origin nearly 2000 years ago. To guard against the possibility of rain staining the marble faces of their gods the Greeks used to protect them with a large metal plate placed over the top of the head. These were mistaken by painters in later years for emblems of divinity. Accordingly, our Christian saints are pictured with the ring which we call a halo.

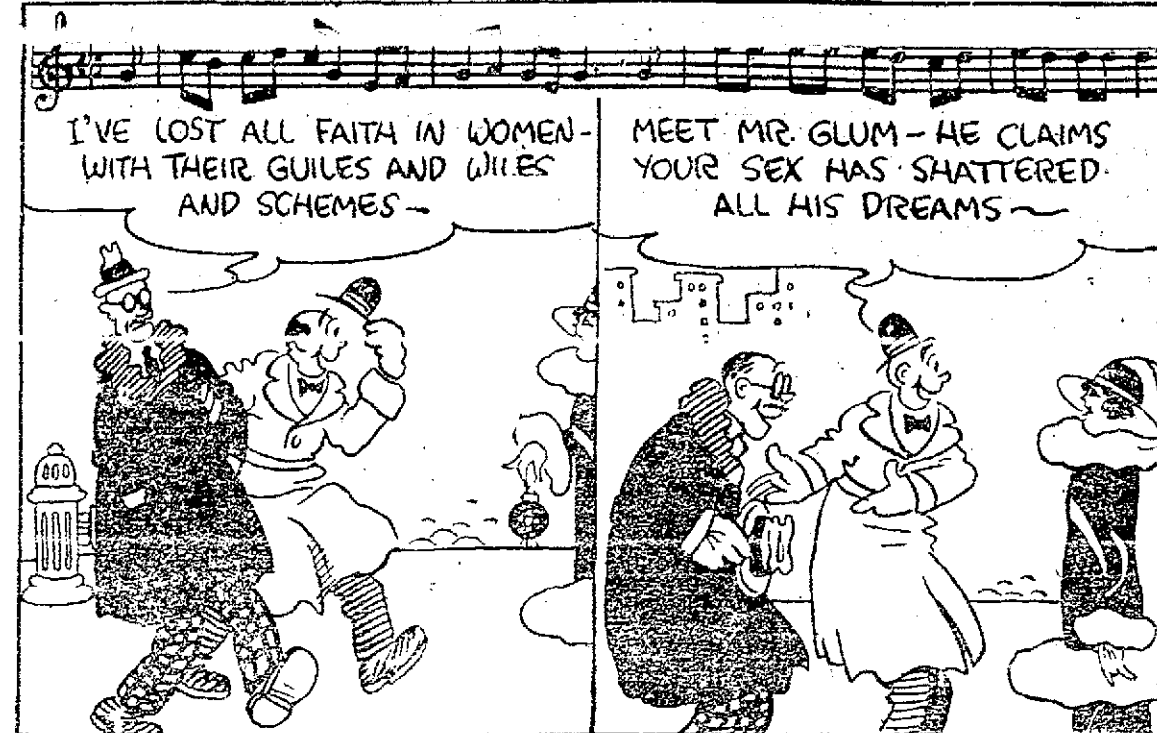

Friends of the gardener are often destroyed in the larva stage in mistake for greenflies.

HUSBAND SUICIDE

SAYS MRS. BARATTI

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—Mrs. Grace Baratti, said to have been once model for noted New York and San Francisco artists, remained in the city all here today, awaiting her hearing on a charge of having killed Harry Baratti, musician, her husband.

The hearing has been set for December 22.

"My husband killed himself with his own revolver," she steadfastly declared.

"He was terribly worried over financial affairs and I think the work must have broken his spirit."

"We are certain Mrs. Baratti killed her husband," declared po-

FEDERAL GAME

ACT IS OPPOSED

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 5.—After an all-day discussion here today, visiting members of the Western Association of Game Commissioners failed to reach an agreement on the proposed adoption of a federal act providing for the establishment of public shooting grounds and placing all hunters of water fowl and migratory birds under federal licenses.

Opposition was expressed chiefly on the ground that the bill would take away the police powers of the state.

"If the act is assigned to the case," "When the time comes, we will produce the proof."

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—Sentational charges pending in the local courts against Philip Whitney, Kansas City realty broker, were dismissed yesterday by Judge Life T. Jacks, when it was learned that Whitney, and Miss Monte Hucksorn, movie actress, who had brought the charges, were married in Los Angeles. Miss Hucksorn, while in this city, charged that Whitney had kidnapped her to Kansas City, had kept her prisoner in a local hotel. She later filed suit in Los Angeles for $80,000 against Whitney for threatening her life. Whitney said that, under the laws of Missouri, she was his wife, and that he had brought her west to remove her from the influence of J. E. Crean of Los Angeles. When Crean received a letter from her stating that she was being held prisoner, he came here from Los Angeles and told the police.

ORR ARRANGES

ITS ANNUAL DANCE

An event which is being looked forward to by Eastbay society folk is the annual dance of Oakland Lodge, I. O. E. THE CABLE MIDGET PIANO

Here is a piano that fills a long-felt need, and fills it with complete satisfaction. It is a midget in everything but tone, and in that it is all but gigantic.

Small enough for the tiny apartment, the Midget is yet complete in scale, having the full eighty-eight-note keyboard—the only one of its size so constructed. Especially is it adapted to schools, apartment houses, churches, where portability is desired. Very easily moved.

AIR BOOTLEGGERS FINED $400 FOR BOOZE CARRYING

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—Charles E. Paul, termed "aerial bootlegger" by prohibition enforcement officers, was fined $400 by Judge Benjamin F. Hedges, in the United States district court here for transporting twenty gallons of liquor from Los Angeles to Santa Barbara, Cal., by airplane. The machine was confiscated.

Clarence Brocchini, pilot of the plane, similarly charged, has not pleaded.

U. S. AID HOPE
IN DEBT TANGLE

PARIS, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The visit here of Alanson B. Houghton, American ambassador to Germany, has aroused considerable interest in French circles.

Although he denies there is any political significance to his trip, it is asserted in some quarters that his conversations with Ambassador Herrick and Roland W. Borden, American observer with the reparations commission, may provide a common ground upon which the French and Germans can agree in regard to the reparations question.

It is known that Houghton has been strongly impressed by the internal situation of Germany and the declaration of the Germans that, if they are able to live through the winter, it will be with much suffering, some starvation and with certain political collapse by midsummer unless the French agree to a long moratorium during which the mark may be stabilized.

Woman Supervisor
In Wordy Battle

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—The adoption of a "tag" rule to put an end to lengthy debates may be adopted by the board of supervisors following a verbal tilt yesterday between Supervisor Mary Morgan and Supervisor James R. McSherry. Supervisor Morgan was temporarily occupying the mayor's chair. When McSherry talked on after she had arisen with the gavel in her hand in an attempt to bring his talk to a close, she is declared to have said: "If I were a man, you and I would not be discussing this matter here, but outside in man-fashion. If I could find a scavenger with a good big garbage can, I would tell him to drop you into it and keep the lid on." A proposed "tag" rule was later referred.

Millionaire Dies
Week After Wedding

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—David S. Bachman, millionaire and retired stock broker died yesterday at Dante Sanitarium following a long illness. One week ago he was married to Miss May Slesinger, San Francisco artist. At that time Bachman's condition had become critical, and he wished Miss Slesinger to become his wife before he died. She consented and the destined ceremony was performed by Justice A. T. Burton. It was stated by friends of Bachman that they understood he had made a holographic will leaving his million-dollar estate to his widow.

Why?

Why are Kaiser
vests
so long?

Kaiser vests simply can't roll up or wrinkle, because they are so long and shaped to fit the waist and hips. They stay down.

BESIDES, they are Italian Silk—the best silk there is—and Italian Silk, so well tailored, hangs snugly to the lines of the body with a feeling of fitness that has never been equalled.

Kaiser Italian Silk Underwear is the most luxurious—yet it costs less, because it lasts so long.

Are your menus health-shy?

Do you ever have the uncomfortable feeling that many of your meals are health-shy? Often a heavy, "lozy" menu can be swung back to health-balance by a simple prune dessert, for example. Or, on occasion, you can use a substantial prune dish [high in food value] as the main course of the dinner, even if it does come at the end. Start using these Sunsweet recipes today and send for our complete Recipe Packet—free! California Prune & Apricot Growers Association, 200 Market Street, San Jose, California.

SUNSWET PRUNE WHIP: Take 1 cup prune pulp, beat whites 3 eggs until stiff; add 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla and carefully chop walnuts. Pour in an ungreased pudding dish; set in pan of hot water; bake in moderate oven until firm in center. Serve hot or cold with custard sauce made of yolks of eggs or with whipped cream. Walnuts may be omitted and coconut sprinkled over top before baking. To obtain prune pulp, rub cooked pitted Sunsweet Prunes through coarse strainer.

SUNSWET PRUNE TURNOVERS: Wash, dry and pit Sunsweet Prunes; put through a food chopper; measure 1 cupful; add 1 beaten egg, 1 soda cracker rolled fine, juice and grated rind of 1/2 lemon. Line patty pans with flaky pastry, fill with mixture and bake in hot oven. For turnover, cut pastry in 4-inch squares, spoonful of mixture in center, fold over like a triangle, pressing edges together; prick top with fork so steam will escape; bake in hot oven.

SUNSWET PRUNES WITH TAPIOCA: Soak 1/2 cup of pearl or minute tapioca in 1 cup of cold water one hour or more; drain, add hot water, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon butter. Cook in double boiler until transparent. Butter baking dish, cover bottom with cooked, pitted Sunsweet Prunes and cover with tapioca. Bake in moderate oven about thirty minutes. Serve with cream or custard sauce. Will serve four persons.

SUNSWET PRUNE SNOW BALLS: Have as many 5-inch squares of cheesecloth as you have persons to serve. Spread 2 or 3 tablespoons hot cooked, pitted Sunsweet Prunes in center, then pick up corners of cloth and tie in center so as to entirely cover prunes. Drop into boiling water and cook ten minutes. Remove from bags; serve with sugar and cream or a custard sauce.

SUNSWET PRUNE SALAD: Cooked, pitted, drained Sunsweet Prunes. For each service allow 4 prunes, 1/2 orange peeled, sliced very thin and cut in quarters; 1/4 apple cut in dice. Arrange on crisp lettuce leaves, sprinkle with lemon juice and place 1 tablespoonful of thick mayonnaise on top of fruit.

SUNSWET
CALIFORNIA'S NATURE-FLAVORED

Ask your grocer for the new 2-lb. carton of sunsweet prunes. It is the new way to buy prunes. More compact and convenient! Keeps the fruit fresh-flavored too! Comes in three sizes of fruit: large, medium, small.

DESCAMPS DENIES BATTING SIKI'S STORY OF FRAME UP

LITTLE FOUR-ROUNDERS WILL RESUME OPERATIONS AT THE AUDITORIUM TOMORROW EVE.

Siki's Manager Denies Battle Was Frame-up

Declares Boxer Is "Much Better Liar Than He Is Fighter."

PARIS, Dec. 5.—(By The Associated Press.)—The declaration that Battling Siki is "a much greater liar than he ever was a fighter," and that no one "can take away his title as champion heavyweight liar of the world," was the only comment which M. Hellers, manager of the Senegalese, made to the newspaper correspondents this morning, when confronted with Siki's confession concerning the Carpentier bout, as published in some of the morning papers.

M. Hellers added that he would defend himself to the limit and defied M. Diagne, the Senegalese deputy, to produce any proof of the alleged frameup beyond the unsupported word of Siki.

Neither Descamps nor Carpentier would make any comment concerning the charges that the bout was framed. Descamps said:

"My name is not mentioned in this affair, but I may give a statement to the press later."

M. Hellers has been ill, but he attended a meeting of the French Boxing Federation last night.

The publication of Siki's charges has created a sensation in France.

TO GO TO COURT.

PARIS, Dec. 5.—(By United Press.)—The Carpentier-Siki bout will be fought in the courts, as a result of the Senegalese boxer's charge that it was a frame-up for Georges to win—and that he "crossed" the Frenchman and knocked him out. Deputy Diagne, who has come to the assistance of Siki, retained a lawyer with the intention of prosecuting his suit to have the negro's title of European light-heavyweight champion restored to him. He was stripped of it and also barred from the ring because of various scrapes he got into after his victory.

Siki, in a statement made in Diagne's presence, alleged it was arranged that Carpentier should win in the fourth. When that round came the black felt the thrill of victory, he said. His manager ordered him to quit, he alleged, but instead he walked into Carpentier and defeated him. He had never been beaten and I decided to disobey my manager's orders," said Siki. "I thought I would win more money."

Paddock Will Run for the U. S. C. Again

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 5.—Charles W. Paddock, wrecker of the world's sprint records, has announced that he had enrolled at the University of Southern California for additional studies in English and that he would appear in track competition on the Trojan cinder path. Paddock said that he was eligible for one more season of intercollegiate track work and that he would compete in the national intercollegiate track and field championships in the east next year, as a member of the U. S. C. team.

FOOTBALL AT VALLEJO. VALLEJO, Dec. 5.—The Live Oak football team of Berkeley will come here on Sunday afternoon to meet the Vallejo Moose team at Beach park. The Moose defeated the Live Oaks here during the fall.

Harry Wilson Nittany Lion Halfback Star

Berdek Has Fine Backfield Material On Penn State Eleven.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 5.—Losing eight first-string backfield players from the 1921 squad, Coach Hup Berdek at Penn State faced a difficult situation this fall. But one man remained, Harry Wilson, the Sharon youth, who jumped into the lineup at midseason and who flashed without brilliancy but was scarcely less than that of the great Killinger.

It was fortunate for Penn State that Wilson was on hand, for the chunky left halfback has demonstrated this year that he deserves to rank with the great halfbacks of history. Despite the handicap of having to carry along three new men in the backfield Wilson has starred in every game played this fall, reaching a pinnacle in the Penn frame when Philadelphia critics termed him "the Superman in the Penn State backfield."

Wilson is only a junior at State and he should reach his top form next year. Penn State rooters are convinced that if such is the case, he will be the wonder back of all time, for right now they consider him the equal of any in the country. Quiet, unassuming, Wilson rarely makes a sound during the game. Yet he willingly does two men's share of work and rarely fails when called upon. Killinger termed Wilson his ace in the hole last year and when three or four yards were needed, Harry was the man to make it. Against Penn, he scored Penn State's touchdown on a beautiful pass from Mike Palm and in addition he carried the ball two out of every three times for the Nittany Lions.

Wilson is a strong running mate at right halfback in the person of Ross Hufford. Hufford has played end for the three seasons but just before the Carnegie Tech game Berdek decided on a switch that would give him more power behind the line. Hufford had played halfback in his freshman year and in high school, so that the job is not new to him and he has already demonstrated that he can play the snift but him in the backfield.

HUFFORD IS STAR. The big West Virginian is anxious to show that he can play as well in the backfield as on end and if determination counts for anything, he will give a good account of himself in the Pasadena game, his last for the Blue and White, and there is no doubt but that he will put out everything he has.

For substitute halfbacks, Berdek has Earl Kratz, 144 pound youngster, who played on the freshman team last year and hails from Detroit; Ray Carson, a junior who comes from school in Philadelphia; and Hank Lafferty, a 150 pounder who has played both halfback and fullback. He played the Navy game at fullback and did good work.

Cards Resume Practice for Pitt Contest

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 5.—Light football practice is being continued at Stanford University for the varsity's game against the University of Pittsburgh Panthers December 30.

Stanford rooters are hoping that the team will continue in the Pitt game, the bitter fight it made in the "big game" against the University of California. A determined Cardinal defense kept the Bear score down to 25 points while in the last few minutes the Cards spurred and came close to scoring.

Next year, it is hoped, Stanford will face California on more even terms. Four of the Stanford varsity men will be gone while nine of the California "wonder team" will not be back.

The full strength of the Cardinals will be sent against the invading Panthers, who are coached by Glenn Warner. Warner comes to Stanford soon as head coach. None of the men was injured seriously in the California game.

For Match With Jack Archer

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—Ray Archer, business manager for Jess Willard, former heavyweight boxing champion, has arrived in Los Angeles.

It is thought that Archer is here to meet Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, and his manager, Jack Kearns, who are expected to arrive here Thursday, in an effort to arrange a return bout between Dempsey and Willard.

"I am in hopes that Kearns will give Jess a return match," said Archer. "Tex Rickard, promoter, says he thinks a return bout between Dempsey and Willard the biggest thing in the promotion line at this time."

Willard resumed training on Archer's arrival and Archer said he would continue to have Willard train until after Archer's meeting with Kearns. Archer declared he would accompany Willard on a tour throughout the northwest, where Willard will appear in boxing exhibitions.

Professional Coach Passing Out Slowly

Final approval of the plan to abolish professional college athletic coaches and to substitute faculty coaches, as proposed last April, was decided upon at the meeting of the New England Association of College Presidents here. Five of the eleven colleges represented in the association have fully accepted the plan, and the other six are expected to ratify it soon.

Senegalese Boxer Couldn't Stand Prosperity, Joins Down and Outers.

By BILL CURRAN, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Dec. 5.—Battling Siki is selling shoe polish. The conqueror of Carpentier is broke. He got $6000 francs for the sleeping pill he handed Georges, but the pace he set around Montmartre and the dozen fathers, brothers and uncles that handed their swindle sheets to the dark champion ate up his profit, and now he is back in the gutter. He has black-balled the big Senegalese he's got to get out and hustle.

"If Carpentier, who ain't no champion, can sell tin cans, well, I guess the light-heavyweight champion of the world can peddle shoe paste," says Siki.

His manager isn't interested in Siki's predicament, Heller says. The ban will be lifted and Siki regain possession of his title. We asked if he was considering a match outside of France.

"No," replied Heller, "Siki is not going to fight until the French Federation says so. I've refused an offer from Boston for a match with Kid Norfolk at a club in that city. My only plan is to ask permission to give exhibitions and in that way show the public that Siki has learned his lesson and will cause no more trouble if given back his titles."

"All the French sporting papers are with me and claim the punishment too severe. I'm sure the federation will allow him to give exhibitions."

Heller is wrong. We went to see the president of the French Federation and asked if he had any objection to Heller's plan.

"Siki is suspended for nine months and will not appear before the boxing public in any match, exhibition or official capacity," said the president.

"The championship of France will be decided in a boxing competition in which all corners will have the right to enter."

When M. Rousseau was asked what he thought of Siki selling shoe polish, he said:

"I don't think the point is as waterproof as Siki he can sell me a dozen boxes."

GOLFERS TO VISIT ISLAND.

Walter Hagen and Joe Kirkwood, crack golf players, are to visit Mare Island on Monday. Most of the yard officers are expected to accompany the golf players around the course on Monday.

'Infamous Lie,' Says Manager Of Carpentier

Wants Return Match With Negro to Prove Carp Is Better Man.

PARIS, Dec. 5.—"It is an infamous lie," said Francois Descamps, manager of Georges Carpentier, when he was confronted with the declaration by Battling Siki that his championship match with Carpentier was to have been a "frame-up."

"I was sure Carpentier would knock this negro out in the first round," Descamps declared. "Who suppose I would let this clumsy fighter stay four rounds with my champion?"

"Deputy Diagne is making electoral propaganda out of his bluff. It will go big at the next election with his Senegalese electors but may not go so big in the courts when the deputy is asked to prove his charges."

"I absolutely defy Diagne to show the slightest atom of proof concerning me with this alleged frameup. You have noticed he was very careful not to mention my name in that connection."

"I believe Deputy Diagne's good faith has been cheated by this negro. Outside of electoral considerations, Diagne perhaps is acting in good faith, but he is making a big mistake in mixing sports with politics. Sports are bad enough without being compared with some of our politics."

"I have never met Siki in my life. He was pointed out to me one evening in a Montmartre barroom but his conditions were such that I continued to think there was no possible chance of him defeating Carpentier. I would have refused to enter any agreement to let him fight four rounds, even had it been proposed."

Descamps said he protested with greatest energy against these stupid accusations.

"The ambition of Carpentier and myself for the close of our pugilistic life," he continued, "will be to get this negro once more into the ring with Georges—to get a revenge match. It would have been a suicidal policy on our part to work for his disqualification."

COMING TO AMERICA.

"Georges doesn't want any titles which he does not earn in the ring; thus we intend leaving for America next March or April to challenge Harry Greb, who is much more qualified than Siki to wear the title of champion."

"Our defense against these charges will be resented in the ring as well as in the courts. I hope the American and the world public will be satisfied in our innocence. If Carpentier defeats Greb there will be no further question of ever having asked this second rate Siki to quit."

Culver Faked Weight; Landed Job as Center

Syracuse Lineman Resorted to Ruse, Made Good Against Heavier Men.

By CHESTER B. BAHM, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 5.—Frank Culver, "unkissed hero" of Syracuse University, retaining captain of the Orange eleven, and Syracuse's candidate for all-American center, won his pivot berth by tampering with the scales of the weighing machine in the Syracuse gym.

That's the story that has just leaked out here, and which has been confirmed by Head Coach "Chick" Meehan, of the Orange gridiron forces. It's a story of pluck from the ground up and of nerve.

Culver's weight has been given out consistently as 155 pounds during the last season. That's five pounds more than it was listed at during 1921.

But the truth of the matter is that Culver at no time has tipped over 145 pounds.

And yet he's All-American timber in spite of the handicap. Culver came to Syracuse from Toledo, where he was a sensational prep school center. His light weight kept him off the 1920 Orange team. In 1921 Culver was ported, looking little changed so far as weight was concerned. He seemed doomed to the scrubs.

Culver did a little quick thinking and then consulted the assistant manager, who was in charge of weighing in. The net result was that when Culver stepped on the scales nightly the weight card showed 155 to 162 to Culver. If it hadn't that assistant manager would have received a fine little wallop.

The "added weight" told, and Culver got his chance. Then came the Pitt game, and Meehan did some close personal weighing. He discovered Culver's trick, and the orange center pleaded guilty, but begged for a chance to face Stein of Pitt. He did, and his showing kept him at center. Then, at the close of the season, came his election as captain for this year.

But not until he turned in his toes after the Colgate game this fall did the boys on the squad know that Syracuse was playing a center who weighed only 145.

Football Title to Be Settled Soon

FRESNO, Dec. 6.—The State College of Fresno football team and the College of the Pacific of Stockton will meet at the Firmin's and Pollock's ball park Saturday afternoon to play off the championship of the California coast conference.

Custodian Billy Brackett has issued orders to the hired help to dust off the ring at Auditorium and make other preparations for the great reopening of the game of swat tomorrow night. The little four rounders have had a nice vacation and they are ready to do their stuff again in the big building by the Lake.

In honor of the occasion T. Simpson has arranged a nice card, one that promises plenty of action and also some scientific boxing. Jimmy Duffy and Jimmy Sacco get the top of the card with another pair of welterweights, Chick Roach and "Spec" Woods following. Travis Davis was offered the main bout with Duffy, but Travis developed a case of too many managers or too many managers thought they were managing Travis Davis.

When the Portland boy sent word that he would be unable to entertain here this week Simpson lost no time in getting in touch with Sacco, who recently handed Mr. Davis a licking. Sacco signed on the dotted line at once and accepted the match without knowing who his opponent was to be. When he learned it was the redoubtable Hymie Gold, Sacco stated he was well satisfied as he can win the championship by taking Hymie into camp.

Coming to the coast Sacco has done very well. He cleaned up everything in sight in the west and was doing the same round Los Angeles and Vernon until he ran into Ray Long a couple of weeks ago. Ray took Jimmy into camp. Among Sacco's recent victims are Teddy O'Hara and Bobby Harper, so Jimmy must be some considerable little battler. Harper took a decision over Davis recently and claims the welterweight championship of the northwest.

"Spec" Woods, who meets Chick Roach in the special event, is from Los Angeles and jumped into the limelight recently defeating Bud Soules.

The classic bout of the evening will likely be furnished by Tod Morgan and Jimmy Dendo.

These little fellows are fast as lubricated lightning and both back a man's sized punch. Morgan has not been seen in action for several months, having been on a tour of the northwest and Canada, but since he returned to his Vallejo home three weeks ago he has been working out daily and is in shape to step four fast rounds. Dendo has more stuff than most of the banties and promises to give the Vallejo boy a good time.

Two old favorites in Al Sange and Bat Larson will tangle in one of the main preliminaries. Cap Nelson and Eddie Gorman will provide another preliminary. Martin Goldman vs. Eddie Roberts and Joe Bell vs. Johnny Dempsey round out the bill.

Harold Faresse, also known as the "Jersey Speedball," is in town looking for matches. He won a 12-round fight from Terio Pangdon in Manila recently. He would like to hook up with Jimmy Dundee.

Gus Cole, the Vallejo promoter, staged a nice card at Martinez last Friday evening. Tommy Comiskey defeated O'Brien in the main event after knocking his man down for the count of nine in the third round. Mickey O'Donnell defeated Jimmy Rizzo in the special event.

Mickey O'Donnell and Joe Bell are to meet in a fistie battle at Vallejo on about December 15. Matchmaker Cole may also match O'Brien and Wop Manoleum for a return scrap.

Bobby Gray, a Denver welterweight has arrived in town and attached himself to Peter Nolan's stable. Gray has boxed Ray Long, Bobby Harper, Travis Davis and that kind. Pete says he is a real fighter.

Bud Ridley and Ernie Gooseman box the main event at the Vernon arena tonight. Bobby Allen and Bud Logan will furnish the special event.

Murphy Well Rewarded for Winning Race

Hugh Curley Has Even Chance For Recovery, Says Physician.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—Hugh Curley of Seattle, Wash., mechanic for Herschel McKee, race driver, had an even chance for recovery today, according to his physician.

Curley was seriously injured last Sunday at the Los Angeles Speedway when an automobile in which he and McKee were riding crashed into the machine of Joe Thomas, another racer, during a practice run around the track before the start of the race. Curley suffered a basal fracture of the skull and internal injuries. Thomas and his mechanic escaped uninjured.

McKee was badly scratched, but suffered no serious injuries, and was expected to leave the hospital today.

Jimmy Murphy, winner of the race, was given $9000 as the winner's share of the prize money by the speedway association. F. C. ("Chiff") Durant, who entered Murphy's car, gave Murphy $1000 for winning the race, and $1000 for his own previous world's record for 250 miles. He was also given the Palos Verdes cup, said to be the first trophy ever won by Murphy.

Fifty hundred points in the American Automobile Association's rating of drivers awarded to Murphy for this race brought his season's total to 3420.

England Is To Build Big Sport Stadium

LONDON, Dec. 5.—What is claimed to be the largest sports arena in the world is now rapidly nearing completion at Wembley Park, just outside London.

Work has been proceeding on the ground day and night for nearly a year, and it is expected by the architects that it will be completed in time for the Football Cup Final, which corresponds to the world's series, in the spring of next year.

Reinforced concrete and steel work have been largely used in the structure of this huge stadium, which will accommodate 125,000 spectators, every one of whom will be able to have an uninterrupted view of the field of play.

A quarter-mile running track encircles the playing field, and a straight 220-yards dash, which will be the only one of its kind in Europe, is being laid out in front of the royal box.

Numerous features, hitherto unknown at English sports grounds, such as a wireless observation tower, a first aid station, a telephone exchange connecting up every part of the arena, dressing rooms of unsurpassed dimensions, showers, a restaurant and a buffet capable of accommodating 2000 are being embodied in the construction, on which between 1000 and 1100 men are continuously employed.

The committee of management is planning an ambitious program and hopes to make the ground a permanent center of the great national and international contests in the future. One of their schemes is to try to get permission to hold the Olympic games there in 1928 or 1932.

Man Killed While Recovering Slipper

As he stooped to retrieve a woman's slipper, Henry Watterson, 74, wealthy contractor, was struck and almost instantly killed by a fire truck here yesterday. The woman lost a slipper out of a package as he was crossing a street and she hurried to safety at the approach of the fire apparatus. Watterson was the 123rd victim of traffic accidents here since January first.

NOTED CONTRALTO HEADS BROADCAST PROGRAM OF KLX

Margaret Bruntzsch, Contralto Star, Favorite On "Bill."

Another of the special TRIBUNE concerts is scheduled for the evening, beginning at 7 o'clock and lasting until 9 o'clock, except for the listening-in period. The feature of the evening will be Margaret Bruntzsch, contralto, who has an international reputation as a singer. She will entertain from 8 until 9 o'clock. The program between 7 and 7:30 o'clock will be by pupils of T. Wilmott Eckert, known to old-time Tivoli patrons, and in fact, all of San Francisco and Oakland, as "Tivoli" Eckert. He will direct the half-hour program, which will be given by Miss Marjorie Miller, contralto; Mrs. Barbara Barnett, soprano; Mrs. J. O. Ford, pianist, and Miss Helen Blom.

Eckert, who now has a studio at 327 Portland avenue, where he coaches a limited number of pupils for the concert and operatic stage, will not "appear" in person tonight over the radio, but is arranging a program all of his own for later on. His popularity of a few years ago has caused a demand for a concert in person.

The 8 to 9 program is one of the most important yet offered radio fans of the bay district. Miss Bruntzsch is a native of San Francisco, and was abroad for several years. She has studied under Europe's most famed masters. When the war trapped her in Germany she was filling a five-year engagement at Karlsruhe.

She is the daughter of the late Carl Bruntzsch, San Francisco

ITALY AND RUSSIA
MARINE TOTALS
868 VESSELS

Merchant Fleet Shows An Increase of 224 Ships Since the Great War.

The Italian merchant marine is showing a healthy growth. According to the Italian official records on December 31, 1922, included 644 ocean steamers of 1,534,738 gross tons. On July 1, 1922, the official Italian returns show 488 ocean steamers of 1,534,738 gross tons, 1,547,760 net tons, and 3,367,131 deadweight tons. Lloyd's returns for that date show 1016 steamers of 2,395,722 gross tons, but at usual, including steamers launched but not completed and registered Italian sailing vessels in 1914 numbered 523 of 277,821 net tons. In 1922, 397 of 367,613 gross tons. And this growth has been made in face of the fact that 218 Italian steamers, gross tonnage 677,207, were lost during the war.

When Italy entered the war 69 steamers of the Central Powers aggregating 251,000 gross tons were seized in Italian ports and employed thereafter in her fleet, but of these 42 were lost or allotted to other powers. Italy up to the end of June, 1922, had received 212 steamers of 575,000 gross tons. Relatively from a shipping point of view Italy came out of the war judged by present tonnage figures, in better condition than any other European power except Belgium.

The maritime empire of Austria-Hungary with Italy is ended and in the traces of the Adriatic and the Mediterranean, with Asia and the East Coast of Africa, even with the Americas, this fact is important to Italy. The Austro-Hungarian empire has lost its entire sea and as the navy and merchant shipping of the dual empire were always artificial creations, having no root in the maritime traditions and habits of its peoples, the sea of Austria and Hungary to the sea seems very remote.

With the dissolution of the Austro-Hungarian empire, Italy acquired the shipping companies of Trieste and Monfalcone, where the Austro-Hungarian navy and most of the ships of the subsidized Lloyd-Austriaco line were built.

REDUCTIONS OF
TELEPHONE AND FIFTEEN
PERCENT IN FARE

Trans-Atlantic Lines to Make Decided Cuts in Passenger Fares.

Ten to fifteen per cent reductions are to be made in trans-Atlantic steamship fares following a decision made by the North Atlantic conference. A new rate sheet has been ordered by the interested steamship concerns.

The new rates are based on the size and age of each ship. The new schedule will apply particularly to those vessels ranging from 15,000 to 25,000 tons. The class of vessel which carries the bulk of travel. Under the new arrangement there will be a greater elasticity of rates, rather than a fixed and unalterable minimum scale. The general tenor of the new rates is to bridge the gap between fares on luxury liners and those with more modest accommodations.

At the present time the minimum fares for the ports of Cherbourg and Southampton for ships of the Majestic class are $24 to $25. On ships like the Olympic they range from $24 to $25, dropping downward to $20 to $22 on the smaller vessels. On other ports of the United Kingdom with similar rates prevailing to ports of France and Germany.

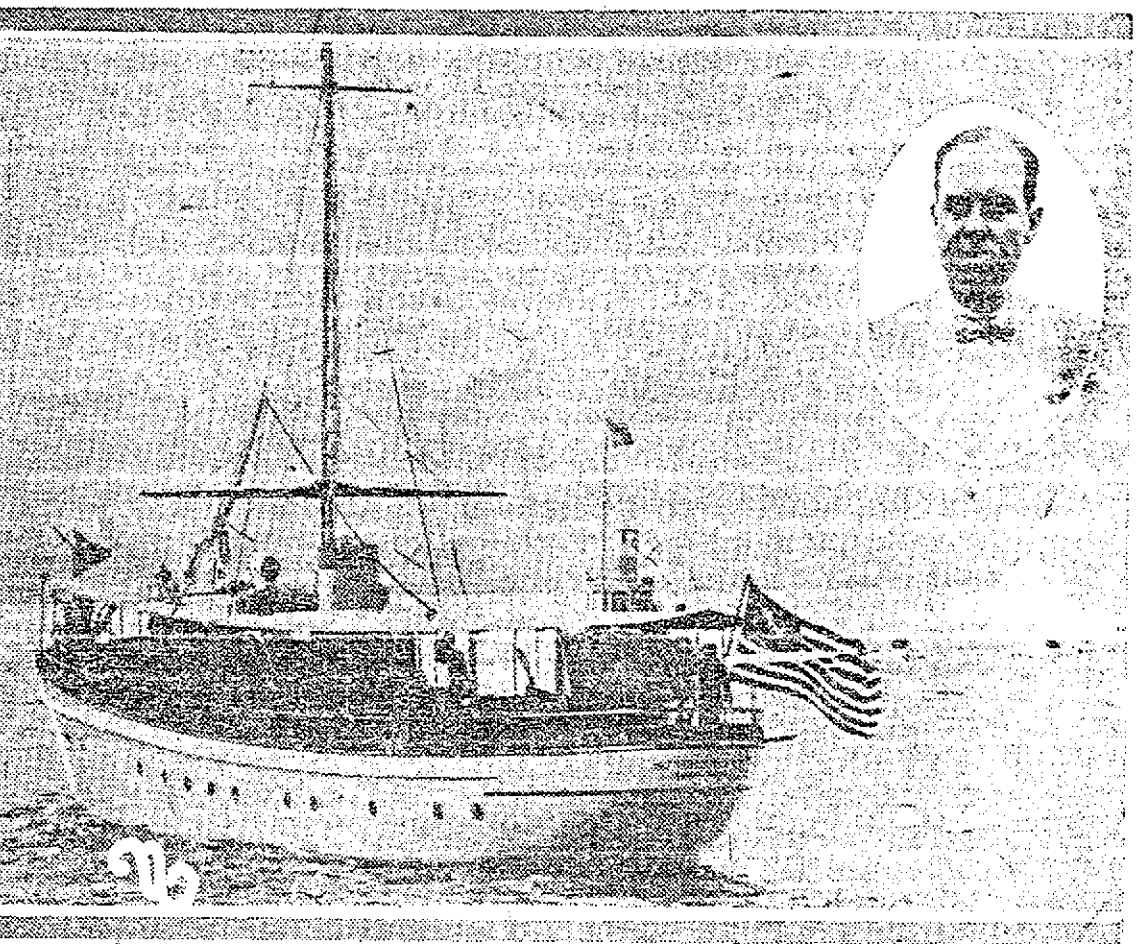

A move to bring about a readjustment of rates was begun early this summer. Several conferences were held and the question of reduction is one which has occupied the attention of the experts of the various lines in order to maintain harmony within the ranks.

While the steamship men contend that costs of operation do not warrant such a reduction in fares, they are generally believed by outsiders that a decided slump in anticipated business last year has had much to do with the move to bring about a readjustment of rates.

Finishes World Cruise

The motor cruiser SPEEJACKS has just completed a tour of the world with a party of New York clubmen aboard. Scientific data and films were collected. Several times the little craft and its party of ten members was reported lost on the Pacific and Atlantic.

To Start Work on World's Record Pier

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Work is to be started at an early date on the building of the new pier which is to take the place of Army Piers 3 and 4, Hoboken, and which will be the greatest pier in the world. The pier, which will cost about $2,000,000, in addition, the two big trans-Atlantic liners, Agamemnon and the Leviathan, now rapidly approaching completion.

The informal bids on the work have been opened and the cost of the improvement will be about $2,000,000. It is stated that the $2,000,000 bids are less, and the Shipping Board has, therefore, definitely decided to go ahead with the work, and will make as early a start as possible.

Crew Battles With Fire for Three Days

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Dec. 4.—After a three-day fight, fire on the steamer Canadian Gunner was extinguished last night. The ship's cargo of flour and produce was saved.

The fire broke out on the morning of December 2, and for three days the crew battled the flames. The fire was caused by a breakdown of the engines. Just how serious this may be is not known.

Party of Adventurers Arrives At Miami, Florida. After Thrilling Cruise.

The motor cruiser Speejacks has completed her circumnavigation of the globe, according to reports received from Miami, Fla., where the party of adventurers first touched America. They expect to reach Norfolk tomorrow and then on December 11 officially to end the cruise at the New York Yacht Club.

"I wouldn't take five million dollars for the trip, but I wouldn't make it again for fifty million," said the way Albert F. Gowan, leader of the trip, sums up the excursion. The other members of the party are in hearty accord with his sentiments.

SEATTLE, Dec. 4.—The coast guard cutter Seabird today was ordered off the mouth of the Columbia river to tow the steamer Boxer back, last of the winter. The cutter was ordered to the States Bureau of Education for use in its Alaska work.

Any call for aid outside Cape Flattery would now have to be answered by the coast guard cutter Albatross, stationed at Astoria. It was said here. The cutter's Vessels and Haida are under way overhauling and repairs, the Haida having been severely strained towing the steamer Seabird. The cutter is in condition to return to her station at Ketchikan, Alaska.

EVERETT DENIES BREAK WITH C. C. CONCERNING TRAINING

Former Secretary of Chamber to Engage in Private Business Here.

Blanks Everett, a former employee of the Chamber of Commerce, today made a positive and unqualified denial of a sensational story published last night in a local newspaper to the effect that the severance of relations between Everett and the Chamber was due to Everett's activity in "efforts to obtain express train service between Oakland and the principal cities of the East Bay section."

These charges had caused no little amusement among members of the Chamber of Commerce and business men generally.

In giving the lie to these charges Everett today made the following statement:

"Any aid which I may have given the Chamber of Commerce in its efforts to secure rapid transportation for the City of Oakland had nothing to do with my leaving the Chamber of Commerce."

I have been especially active in advocating rapid transit for Oakland, on account of instructions from Vice-President Robinson, acting president during the absence in the east of President King. In discussing policies in which the Chamber of Commerce should be active, both King and Robinson were of the opinion that this is one of the most important works that the Chamber could take up.

There is no personal feeling in the matter at all and I am leaving the Chamber of Commerce with very best wishes for its continued prosperity and success. My association with it was during the brief time he has been here has been most pleasant. I wish for him the same fine spirit of support and cooperation which was given me during the time that I was serving as acting manager.

I am planning to engage in private business in Oakland, in whose future I have the greatest faith.

Arm and the Man

This locket, shown on the arm of MISS BETTY WILSHIRE, Oakland girl, is the newest thing in women's jewelry, and serves a double purpose, one of which is to conceal the vaccination scar of the young woman whose arm it adorns.

Successor to Barrows Not Chosen, Asserts U. C. Editor

BERKELEY, Dec. 5.—Claiming reliable authority for its statement, the "Daily Californian," student paper, this morning declared that no definite decision had been reached by the board of regents in the selection of a new president of the University of California. The student paper disposes of the rumors that Dr. W. W. Campbell, director of the Lick Observatory, was to be the new president as the "wildest of guesswork" and the "greatest of nerve," declaring that quotation to come from a high university authority.

In commenting on the choice of a new president, the publication, of which Robert B. Coons is editor, says:

"It is considered improbable that the choice of California's next president will be made before the new year is well begun, and perhaps not then."

ARM LOCKET TO CONCEAL SCAR IS LATEST NOVELTY

The vaccination locket—that's the latest in feminine jewelry.

It was introduced here for the first time today by Miss Betty Wilshire of Oakland, who has just returned from New York, where she went to get Dams Fashion's delects for this winter.

Miss Wilshire believes in utility in jewelry—and to prove it she lets us in on this secret.

"It's much nicer than the old neck locket," she said, "and hides the vaccination scar."

It is predicted that the new tinket will make a big hit with young women throughout the country.

Symphony Matinee Concert Scheduled

The first of the series of three matinee symphony concerts will be given by the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra at the Auditorium arena Friday afternoon, when Alfred Heriz, the conductor, will present the following program:

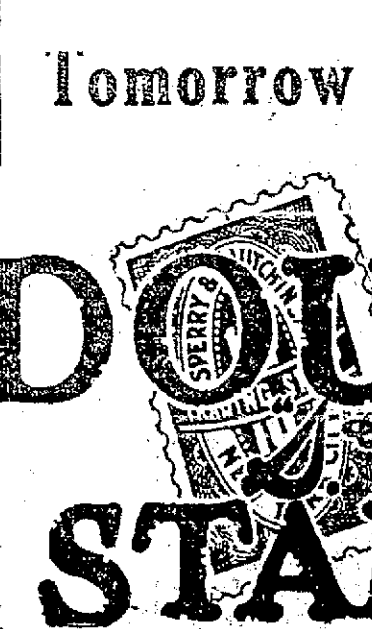

Overture, "Oberon".....Weber
Unfinished symphony.....Schubert
"March Militaire".....Schubert
(a) "Music Box".....Lidow
(b) "Funeral of a Marionette".....Gounod
Overture from "William Tell".....Rossini

While primarily intended for the pupils of the Oakland schools, the concert is open to the general public.

Miss Z. W. Potter is managing the concert.

WHIPPED BOY'S CASE TAKEN TO SCHOOL BOARD

Mother Appeals From Order Sending Youth Back to Class.

Mrs. A. M. Ott, mother of a student at Grant school, appealed to the board of education last night against Superintendent Hunter's ruling that the boy must go back to school despite the fact that he once received corporal punishment and she says fears more of it.

The board, after a long discussion, finally decided to take up the matter at the regular monthly meeting Thursday evening.

Mrs. Ott alleges that the boy was punished by Principal H. C. Petray. After punishment, she refused to return the child to school and appealed to Superintendent Hunter. Hunter said the youth would have to return to school, under the state law.

Mrs. Ott says she wanted guarantees that the boy would receive no further corporal punishment, but claims that Hunter would give no such guarantees.

Mrs. Ott further alleged that Principal Petray said "if he comes back to school I'll punish him again."

STATEMENT OF HUNTER.

Hunter last night said he doubted this latter statement, but so far as he was concerned his course was clear.

"I had nothing to decide except whether or not the child had to go back to school," said Hunter. "The school law allows corporal punishment in certain cases. Petray said this boy, under excuse of going to music lessons, went elsewhere and off the school grounds. Under these circumstances, I could do nothing except advise the mother to send the boy back. He has been out two weeks."

Board of education members suggested that a special meeting of the committee of the whole be held to thresh out the matter. It was finally decided to thresh the matter out Thursday evening, in public meeting, before the regular board session.

SCHOOL LAND DEAL.

The board and the owners of a 50 by 100 foot lot alongside the Manzanita school came to an agreement last night, on a $9700 price for this property, which will be used for the enlarged Manzanita school.

The reply of Commissioner Wm. J. Bacon to those who would narrow Theodore Roosevelt high school at Nineteenth street was read. The board members agreed that the track should be closed to traffic, though the street department maintains that this cannot be done. Further action in the matter will be taken soon by the board.

RACING STOPPED AT TIA JUANA

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 5.—Racing has been stopped at Tia Juana, order of Minister of the Interior Calles of Mexico. Calles has been informed that there is street fighting going on in the border town, his message to President James Coofield, of the Lower California Jockey Club, said.

Calles stated that he feared injuries to American citizens and possible international complications and for that reason ordered racing suspended pending investigation of military affairs. There has been no street fighting at Tia Juana, however, and the Jockey Club officials hope to reopen the track tomorrow.

In the meantime, they hope to get the truth of affairs to Mexico City, they say.

The order from Calles does not in any way concern the court litigation now going on between Coofield and Jerome Bassett for possession of the track, it is declared.

Have You Little Movie? Then Look Out for Law

Have you a little movie in your home?

If you have, take it out or put it in a fireproof box so well constructed that the whole thing can explode or burn up without the slightest damage to your home. Otherwise Battalion Chief Sandy is likely to appear at the window and put a damper on your evening's enjoyment.

Chief Sandy, sleuthing through the city for movies with the same persistence that federal detectives use against bootleggers, has "smelled out" eight illicit movies in a week, where the future movie-users were enjoying their illicit diversions behind barred doors and closed windows, believing that their depravity was unsuspected. But Chief Sandy was on the job, and before the night was over he struck terror into the hearts of the movie-folks.

Jay Nash, head of the recreation department, was one of the movie users caught by Chief Sandy at the Hotel Oakland. Nash was giving a lecture on playgrounds at the hotel, using motion pictures. Sandy observed that the movie machine was not enclosed according to law, and put a damper on the Nash performance.

Dewey school and Melrose Heights school were also found to be running movies wide-open.

"They have to get fireproof booths and they have to get permits," says Sandy. "That is the law. Enforcement of that law was lax, but since a dangerous fire started from movies in an East Oakland apartment house, we are going to make that fire-prevention law stringent."

Many Residents to Object to Hospital

ALAMEDA, Dec. 5.—Final passage of an ordinance granting permission to reclassify a district at Willow street and Clinton avenue from a two-family residence district to a hospital zone is to be given tonight at a regular meeting of the city council. Many residents residing on property adjacent to the proposed hospital site have signified their intentions of being present and protesting against the change.

BUILDING PERMIT TOTAL $2,584,752 FOR LAST MONTH

Applications Number 853; One-Story Dwellings Total 282.

A summary of applications for building permits for the month of November in Oakland shows that various permits asked for amounted to $53, involving a total of $2,584,752. Of this amount $2,507,757 was for new construction and $76,995 was for alterations and repairs. There were 232 permits for one-story dwellings, totaling $802,200. The largest single permit was for a concrete school building, involving an outlay of $66,000. There were 19 permits for apartments and stores, amounting to $284,500.

The summary of permits for the week ending November 29 shows that the total was 228 permits, involving $539,463.
